

Ship in half

By Deavay

Do you want know what might happen on your way to Mars? Jack and John just left their moon base to go over to mars in the spaceship to be able to make a base on mars and research on Mars. only that their spaceship is slower because the have the materials in their and they don't realise there's a meteor is heading straight for the ship and they can't escape it.

Jack and John are putting the last details on their spaceship and then load the materials in. John and Jack finished their ship and loaded the materials and gave it fuel and when off and packed oxygen tanks, just in case they ran out. John was looking at papers for their base and then 'what's that' John saw something and it was a meteor. Jack said 'what's that gonna do' then it flew in the ship and destroyed the fuel tank 'THAT THING WAS HUGE' said Jack. Jack started breathing heavily. The coldness filled the room freezing the room and sucking the air out of the ship.

Both didn't know what to do nor, how to fix the ship. Jack saw the materials on the other end of the ship 'we can use the materials' but the only problem it's floating far from them. Both of them can't get to the other end of the ship then John had a plan 'we ca-' 'we aren't not doing a human chain with other stuff interrupted Jack. Jack packed some things, incase he wouldn't make it. John too started packing stuff, if he wouldn't make it too. Jack had a plan a brilliant plan.

Jack explained his plan to John. Both of them started banging the ship to brake off metal, to use it and John grabbed a tool and made a bridge. Both Jack and John started repairing the ship and the turned on heaters, incase they got cold, and to warm up the room. The last things they did was fill the fuel tank (and fix it) and fill the room with air and they took off their helmets 'were done *huff* we fixed *puff* everything' and continued. Jack landed on phobos to have a break a filled the fuel tank back up and had lunch (which was spaghetti and hot dogs) and landed on mars and built their base.

I hope you like my story and I hope you enjoyed it and tell me how you felt (if this gets on my blog). I felt excited writing the story and I might make another in the holidays if I can. I wonder what's gonna happen next. If this gets to 70 comments I will write another story or part two but if it hits 120 I'll make part 3 (again in the holidays). Also comment something you want me to write and i'll do my best. (btw check out my friends bethan, josh, and justice if you didn't see their story) Also (sorry it's long) I hope you have fun in the holidays (me and my friend are working on something)