

California Department of Public Health (CDPH) released updates to the state's Blueprint for a Safer Economy reopening framework allowing additional activities to resume with modifications to reduce risk. View the updated sector chart to see which activities and businesses are allowed in each tier, and view California's County Risk Levels to see the current county tier designations. Local public health departments may implement policies that are more restrictive than the State and should be consulted to confirm if there are any local stricter variations.
