

Privacy Policy

Your privacy is important!

The permissions that are used in the applications and the desired permissions are the permissions that are required to run the application entirely.

The personal information of the users is absolutely not shared with third parties.

The desired permissions are used only for tracking errors, improving application functionality, and improving user experience.

We do not use any personal information about you when you download or use our products.

It is not shared with any third parties.

For our apps, we use the Google Admob SDK for ads.