

The Planned Future of ALTCOM

Hello everyone.

I first want to start off by saying thank you to the 25 people who were with me on the Discord when I held the live announcement and afterwards the Q&A session.

It was fun, and kind of weird talking to people without anyone talking back.
Lots of uhhmms...

So, about the future of ALTCOM and our big project that we have been talking about for a while now..

I think it's time to let everyone know what is going on behind all of the anonymity that is around this project.

The team of Altcommunity Coin is split into 2 parts.

There is the web developers which includes me, and then there is the coin development team.

As of now, the team that worked on the coin itself wants to stay anonymous.
I as the Community Manager will make sure that their identity is not made public.

The web developers have no issue in identifying themselves.

Some of you may have seen "Richy Ries" on Discord, he is the lead developer of our own exchange that we have been working on for some time now.

I want to ask the community not to spam Richy and question him.
If you got questions about the project, please contact me.

What is the future plans?

Four months ago, we started working on our own exchange. It will be an exchange that is run by us and the community.

The exchange will go into a test stage in about 6 months. From there we will show off some basic functionality and test out our system that is built from the ground up with unique code only.

The developers has successfully made a matching engine that is able to handle thousands of trades per second which will result in instant trading with no delay.

There will be several stages of our exchange and the plan is as following:

Stage 1:

Basic Alpha version that will be available in six to seven months from writing this. This stage will only contain a few markets that will be opened for testing. We will allow testing for about 14 days and let people try to break the alpha version.

When Alpha testing is complete, then we should be able to launch the beta version one or two months later.

This version will be for live trading and will be running 24/7 trading.

Stage 2:

Final Release of our exchange with basic trading functions and a share system. We will be selling off 25% of the the revenue that is made from all fees on the exchange. the 25% will be divided into 100.000 shares that will be sold to the community for ALTCOM only.

This will give the development team funding for the upcoming future.

Stage 3:

At this stage, we will have a fully functioning exchange running with trades, shares of the exchange is generating revenue for the shareholders.

And at this point we will start working on a non-registration trade function. This will allow users to make fast trades without signing up for an account on our exchange.

Stage 4:

API trading using our Stage 3 trading system will be made public. You will be able to setup trading APIs on all kinds of applications and other websites. This will make exchanging coins fast, easy and convenient for end users.

The web team is currently recruiting more for the team, but we will not be looking for programmers from the community.

We will make a new site with the name of the exchange and show off the people who are working on it.

To end this all off, then I want to thank the many people in this community. You guys are the early adopters and will hopefully stay with us for the long run.

If you haven't already, please sign up at our forums here: <http://altcoincommunity.net/>

~Hamukione

We Decide The Future!