IRM #2 v2

===Background===

Not much is known about Steals Chark's life pre-alternation. Though they were a founding member of the team, Chark was rarely seen in public, preferring their own company and the depths of the abyssal plane.

==Appearance==

They look like [Siobhan Chark] but cooler.

Like Chark, Chark is also a shark selkie-type, but has not been seen in their shark form for some time. When asked about it, Chark responded "I don't need that anymore" and flipped us off.

==Alternation==

Post-alternation, Chark became much more outgoing. They are somewhat notorious for their pranks, including filling the locker room with cans of off-brand Ooze, engineering the swap of Siobhan Chark to the Tigers, giving [[Yurts Buttercup]] a soundboard of their own voice, and having an ERA of 7.93 in Season 23.

==Relationships==

Steals is Siobhan Chark's [REDACTED], though they often claim to be, among other things, an "evil alternate" version of her, her from the future, her rich cousin, or the actual oldest sibling. Siobhan, in contrast to Steals, started on the team's active lineup, and the perception of being left behind in the shadows allegedly soured their relationship, even before Steals was alternated. Siobhan's brief return to the team only heightened tensions between the two.

Chark has a strong friendship with [[Yurts Buttercup]], a relationship that may seem fickle, and kind of weird, honestly, but Buttercup describes Chark as "the best friend I've ever had."

"They're really understanding, at least when it comes to me. They know what I mean when I'm insecure, and they always bring things into perspective. It's easy to feel really gloomy around here, but Steals always knows how to crack a joke and make me smile."

Chark's other friendships include [[Hiroto Wilcox]] and [[Randy Dennis]], who arrived on the Georgias at similar times to them, when the world was ending.

Dennis and Chark have similar temperaments, and share a love for energy drinks, kandi jewelry, and Teen Bleach Movie. Dennis and Chark have a dream to take a cross country road trip, visiting their respective hometowns and comparing the appropriate word for a branded soft drink. (It's all Ooze™) Dennis recalls Chark's appearance at one of their skating events.

"They, uh, had these, like, puppets? I think Flattery [McKinley] probably helped, but I could see them from all the way down the ramp, these crazy glittery hands, and they were all shaped like manatees."

Chark and Dennis have made each other matching buttons that read "Selkies 4 Lyfe"

Chark and Hiroto Wilcox's friendship is more confrontational than their relationship with Dennis, likely stemming from Wilcox's relationship with the other Chark. (Steals) Chark likes to tease Wilcox about this fact, something Wilcox doesn't particularly find funny. That being said, Wilcox, who is very worried about their leadership position, finds Chark an excellent breath of fresh air. Whether Chark actually cares about anything is unknown, but their attitude demonstrates their ability to take everything lightly, an appealing trait to Wilcox.

IRM #2 (We will not be using this one, as it made people uncomfortable)

===Background===

Not much is known about Steals Chark's life pre-alternation. Though they were a founding member of the team, Chark was rarely seen in public, preferring their own company and the depths of the abyssal plane.

===Alternation===

The new, post-alternation Chark is much more outgoing. Unfortunately, they are also a huge asshole. Chark is known to be quite unpleasant to spend time around, and takes glee in finding ways to annoy people. Despite this, [[Yurts Buttercup]], who has been voted the "Nicest Georgia" 13 years in a row and counting, has repeatedly affirmed that Chark is hir best friend. Research has yet to find a satisfactory explanation for this anomaly.

Chark claims to be [[Siobhan Chark]]'s evil alternate self.

They have a long list of offenses, including;

- Rude to their "[[Siobhan Chark|sister]]"
- Season 23 ERA of 7.93
- Lies about having pitched a shutout
- Never uses a coaster
- Claims to like good movies "ironically"
- Enabled [[Nanci Grackle]]'s crimes against nature
- Hates Ooze
- Wrote an academic paper denouncing Nanci Grackle's crimes against nature
- Gave their sister's partner a "shovel talk" despite not even liking said sister
- Stole my gender
- Isn't even using it
- Seriously give it back
