The introduction must contain research questions, literature review (novelty of the research), supporting theories that strengthen the research and research methods.

Example of Introduction, Indonesia is a big country which has a tremendous population. At least 250 millions people live in this whole archipelago area. It has a legend title which is very popular. As was sung by Koes Plus, "people said that our land is a paradise land, wooden stick and stone becomes plants." There are others similar compliment, one of them is 'the emerald equator', and so on. It shows how wealth this country is. However, in vise versa, all of us know well about the real condition of the society's welfare in Indonesia. There are so many jobless people and job vacancy that can not pervade all of workers. It is very awful.

There are many assumptions that Indonesian society mentality is agrarian, worker, and only can be labour not a leader or activator. And give the novelty of the writing or research being studied. so that it has the value and purpose of your research. That assumption can be right. The fact is that work community level is dominated by the young generation who look for job vacancy, while the job opportunity which provided by the government is not match with the flow of school and university graduates.

2. Theoretical Framework (Optional)

The theoretical framework is a part that can support your research. The theoretical framework can be in the form of a research flow using your theory or a framework containing ideas from your research which are then explained in detail.

Explanation related to the theoretical framework or theoretical explanation if it has been mentioned in the background section. there is no need to mention it further in this section. This theoretical framework is the same as your research literature review which becomes a research concept.

Do not number text heads-the template will do that for you. Finally, complete content and organizational editing before formatting. Please take note of the following items when proofreading spelling and grammar.

The method section structure should: describe the materials used in the study, explain how the materials were prepared for the study, describe the research protocol, explain how measurements were made and what calculations were performed, and state which statistical tests were done to analyze the data.
