

The Place Between the Bumblebees

Written By

Everyone Misses the Thought of You

How far is so long?
Don't worry, it's just forever
You'll always be in this song
But physically severed

We'll meet again
Maybe where it all began?
Shooting stars and falling lies
I came from mars and you fell to cry

Someone, somewhere
Show me what's there
Beyond the halocline
And past these rhymes

Rip and tear
Like hidden swears
Shift the tides
And undo my binds

Will it always be this messy?
Baked beneath the setting sea
Unraveling all these vivid memories
That claw up from underneath
Showing a world we'll never see

A place where we could be
Made of sap and tree
We came undone so naturally
But live apart so furiously

What does it take for you to see
We can't survive in make-believe
Based on your favorite foreign scene
Where we get lost between the bumblebees