

ROOTS-OF-LIFE

Forget-Me-Not

"I was chosen for a reason you egg-head"

@Dūdl

ROOTS-OF-LIFE

NAME	GENDER	COLONY	RANK
Forget~ Me~Not *	Female *	Flower *	Oriental

About

Name	Forget-Me-Not
Name meaning	Symbolizes her command for respect and faithfulness. The name can also be taken literally in her not wanting her presence to be forgotten.
Nicknames	Forget
Gender	Female
Pronouns	She/Her
Sex	Female
Sexuality	Straight
Age	25 months
Colony	Flower Colony
Rank	Oriental

Appearance

Appearance	Tall and lanky with short, pitch-black fur. Large ears, one of which has a
------------	--

	tear, with pale green eyes that look almost silvery.
Scars	A double nick in her left ear
Impairments	N/A
Accessories	A small Forget-Me-Not flower on her head
Genotype	LL BB aa McMc spsp titi Eec ww

Personality

Forget-Me-Not can best be described as a “little princess.” She is spoiled and snotty and refuses to take any criticism that may otherwise damage her image. She commands respect and will throw a fit if she doesn't get it, often punishing a cat for so much as talking ill of her. Forget, despite having a council, will hardly listen to them and not take any of what they say into account, or at the very least, only a little.

On the plus side, she can be charming and creative, often enjoying activities such as decorating dens and the camp in general. She is very social with her subjects and does care about them, if only a little. She can be found gossiping with elderly cats or other residents in her free time.

Family

StarFlower • Mother • NPC

Short, pitch-black fur with white paws and green eyes. (Her name is an actual flower I swear)

Anthurium • Father • NPC

Long black-furred tabby with carnelian and hazel eyes.

Alyssum • Sister • NPC

short black fur with white paws and hazel eyes.

History

Early Life

Forget-Me-Not and her sister, Alyssum, were born under Windflower's reign as Oriental and as such has spent most of her life traveling far and wide. Her parents would often coddle her and her sister, as they were under constant threat of being lost or left behind while running away from humans. When their parents got captured, Alyssum and Forget started to develop an "Every man for themselves" mentality and largely only depending on each other to survive. The two became inseparable and spent every hour of every day together, forming a very strong bond.

Ranger Team

When Forget-Me-Not had only recently been considered a young adult, Windflower had come to ask her to lead a "Ranger Team" in hopes of finding a permanent place to stay. Forget confidently accepted and recruited several other cats (including her friend, Belladonna, and her sister). She would overestimate her own ability to lead, however, and time and time again, would get the group into trouble that they could barely get out of. They managed for the most part, but Forget's horrible leadership skills and the failure to find a permanent home led to Alyssum starting to get irritated at her sister's incompetence, and would consistently suggest someone else take over. This caused a rift to divide the siblings and they began to grow apart.

Eventually the Ranger Team found a set of caves and decided to explore. Unfortunately, the cave began to collapse and half of the group were crushed. Including Alyssum. Forget-Me-Not, unable to handle her sister's death, makes an impulsive decision to abandon the original mission and start their own version of Flower Colony, with her as the new Oriental. The rest of the group, not seeing much of a reason to head back (and also not knowing how) join her and they eventually find the Colony Territories.

New Flower Colony

Forget-Me-Not led the group to a small area in the mountains. Seeing that other groups of cats appeared to be living there, she figured it would be a perfect place to stay. They explored the area and, after learning of a lush forest and flower field, deemed it perfect and settled down. They started to make their own traditions, such as adding Begonias, or seers, to the ranks, and swiftly began to welcome loners and wanderers into the colony, keeping the old tradition of testing their flower knowledge. Forget still wishes she could have established the colony with more of the original members, but must continue onwards to building the colony.

a promising future.

Trivia

Interests

- ♥ Flowers (particularly small ones)
- ♥ Gossiping
- ♥ Exploring

- ✕ Humans
- ✕ hard labor
- ✕ Caves/small spaces

Beliefs

- Flower symbolism and meanings

Other

- Forget has a hard time sleeping at night due her hatred and fear of caves and small spaces, as her den is a small hole in the ground.
- Her friend, Belladonna, is the only cat she'll actually listen to.

Application base created by @peeperonipip

Art drawn by @Dūdl

Character designed by @Dūdl

Written by @Dūdl