

Dear supporters of the Dublin Prison Solidarity Coalition,

Thank you for being part of our vibrant community resisting the systemic staff sexual abuse of people formerly incarcerated at FCI Dublin and now languishing in Bureau of Prisons (BOP) institutions throughout the country, far from loved ones and facing further retaliation for speaking out about the criminal abuse they suffered. Our movement for justice, accountability and freedom is only growing!

With only two months remaining in the current administration, we urgently need your help in calling on President Biden to exercise his unique power of clemency to end the cruelty of keeping these Dublin survivors behind bars.

1. Email President Biden demanding he grant clemency to survivors:
 - a. What would you like to discuss? “Other”
 - b. Input your address etc.
 - c. What would you like to say: template below to copy/paste, including the list of survivors with pending petitions you can uplift — feel free to customize!

Please grant clemency to survivors of the FCI Dublin sexual abuse crisis, several of whom have pending petitions. These survivors cannot obtain relief from the sentencing courts because the evidence they have does not meet the overly narrow definition of proof required under the Prison Rape Elimination Act. These survivors experienced extreme violence during the staff abuse crisis at Dublin, chaotic transfer after the closure, and now suffer ongoing retaliation by BOP staff simply because they were at Dublin and spoke out. These survivors have been severely traumatized, and are not receiving essential health care and mental health support. These survivors are victims. They pose no safety risk to society and many are cooperating government witnesses who have good disciplinary records, job-ready skills and families to return to. Survivors of staff abuse crisis at FCI Dublin with pending petitions include:
