

Lets set the record straight.

I'm not one to really make a whole callout document, as a matter of fact, I wanted to just express how much people's behavior truly affected me and its unfair that people like Paige and Kana were allowed to get away with this sort of behavior. But I feel the need to be more transparent with everyone and make things known, so we can all avoid ambiguity and bring to light exactly what is being said and what the issues are.

I do want to preface this from the very beginning, and I will continue to state it throughout this document: I do not speak for Nat and Ames. My words are my words alone. My EXPERIENCES are my own and I want to touch on them to bring attention to the ACTUAL "interpersonal" issue that Paige is claiming is the problem. No, the issue is not about boundaries not being respected or understood. Well, I guess you can argue it's exactly that but in a completely different context; This isn't just about how Paige disregarded a lot of our boundaries and broke all of our trusts, but its also about his behavior as a person, more specifically, his behavior towards Ames and Nat.

The issue I have with his thread, his response, is how he tries to frame it about how boundaries and how we never respected his boundaries as he tried to respect ours. It's the complete opposite of that. All of us, Nat, Ames, and I, have been respectful of his boundaries, as we genuinely did care for him. The reason he calims that we never respected his boundaries was because he made the constant claim about Nat ruining his love life.

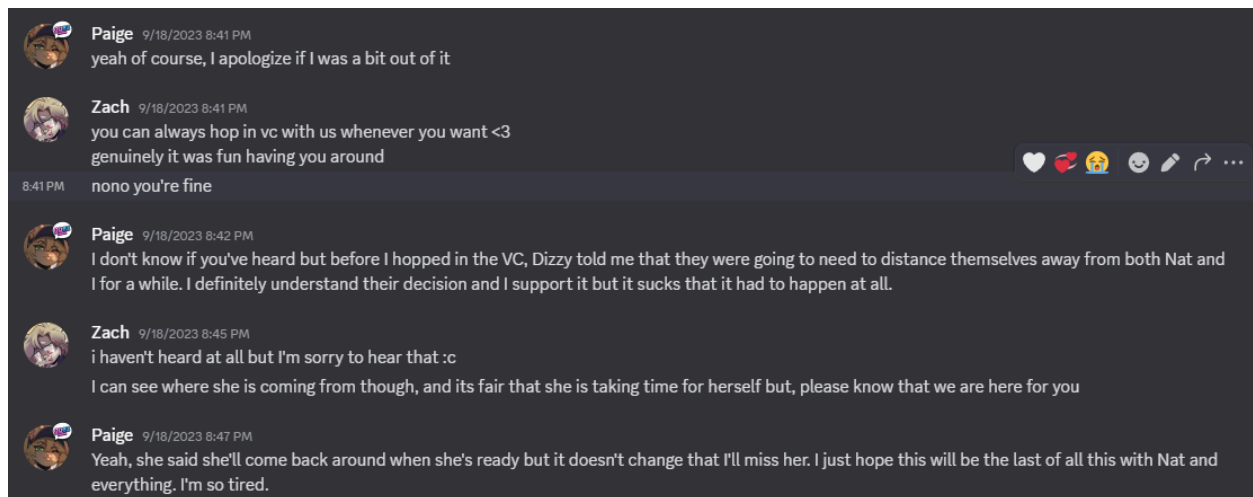

So, no. The entire issue has never been about getting angry with him about the boundaries he established: it has always been about the fact he ignored our boundaries and would continued to spread misinformation around just to avoid responsibility for his actions.

Throughout my friendship with Paige, especially in its early stages, he would vent to me a lot about Ames, how much he missed them, how much he wanted to talk to them support them, and be around them. He claimed to respect his boundaries, wanting to make it known to Ames how much he cares about them, but it got to a point he was flatly stalking Ames and obsessing over them.. To a point he was willing to make a false allegation against one of my friends, Nat, about being a transphobe. All in hopes of making Nat seem like a terrible person and make Ames distance themselves from Nat and be closer to him. Again, I want to reiterate before continuing, this is from my perspective. I'm retelling everything from what I experienced and from my conversations with Paige, using the knowledge I know now to back up the claims that Nat and Ames made regarding him. Before there is claims about me speaking for others, as it was done before, everything I know was told directly by Paige. It is how I was aware of the situation happening between him and Nat, as well as the situation that was occurring with him and Ames.

Stalkerish Tendecies

It's hard to pinpoint the exact date and time in which all of this started, but to explain the events that has happened, I would recommend all of you reading the thread Nat has made regarding his issues with Paige: (You can read it here: Nat's thread). There is a lot of information that is required to understand before diving into Paige's obsession with Ames, hence why I'm recommending all of you to read Nat's thread.

From what Paige told me when this was happening, Ames made the decision of wanting to distance themselves from both Nat and Paige, to give themselves some space to process everything that was happening between both of them, as well as to disconnect themselves from the situation. During all of this, Paige would continuously state that he understood and respected his decisions of wanting space and encouraged them to keep their distance from him!

Throughout all of this, and as weeks passed by, Paige would seem to be incredibly focused on the activities Ames was doing, be that them opening their commission forms, or streaming on twitch with mutual friends! Really, most of my conversations with Paige was either focused on how much Ames meant to him and how much he missed them, or expressing how exhausted he was of Nat and how it bothered him having to walk on eggshells around him to avoid issues. While it wasn't something he would explicitly state around this time, he was making it known that he was blaming Nat for "destroying" his friendship with Ames. He has explicitly stated that he worried that Ames's friendship with Nat would end up hurting them and claiming that it wasn't a "healthy" relationship.

That is something he has stated multiple times throughout my friendship with him. That Nat wasn't a healthy person to be around and he was worried about how he would hurt others around him, whilst also stating that he did not hate Nat. Another thing I want to bring attention to before moving forward: he would constantly state that he wanted to respect Ames's boundaries of wanting distance from him, but, there is a few instance, in this case asking Momo if they could ask Ames if they could be in the stream chat, where he would just, disregard it. This is a constant theme of him ignoring Ames's boundaries throughout the months of the break to which, he was obsessing over Ames 24/7.

Zach 9/24/2023 6:07 AM

Ahhh, i get you,,, you can always wait until their next opening to get it

Paige 9/24/2023 6:07 AM

I know but, again, they're raising their prices after this one and I'm not sure if I'll be able to

Zach 9/24/2023 6:09 AM

ohhh i see,,,

Paige 9/24/2023 6:11 AM

I'm worried if I put in a form monday that it'll be pushing the boundaries for Ames needing to distance themselves. idk I feel like I'd be okay just giving them payment on it and they can work on it when they're ready to start talking to me again x3 I'm not sure. Part of me just feels bad I feel like I'm going back on my word saying how excited I was to commission them the 25th when they reopen
I know circumstances changed but I'm just not sure what to do or think of it.

Zach 9/24/2023 6:18 AM well, I don't think you would be pushing her boundaries but, it might make her feel like she has to talk to you as a commissioner instead of a friend, if that makes sense and you aren't going back on your word at all and you know that its okay pushing the idea back for a bit until you feel certain everything is okay and Ames lets you know everything is okay

You just feel like a bad friend if you go back on your word, right?

Paige 9/24/2023 6:20 AM

I kind of feel like I'd be disappointing Ames if I didn't but at the same time I worry that if I do, I'll upset them by not respecting their boundaries. It could be either way ...

Zach 9/24/2023 6:23 AM

I don't think you'll disappoint them at all, they know the position you are in and they respect the fact you have to slowly distance yourself for the time being, for both of you

And, Paige, you can think of a million "what if" scenarios but believe me, they won't happen at all

You are their friend and they know how you must be feeling right now

Paige 9/24/2023 6:25 AM

I'm left feeling like the best thing to do is to not commission them during all this but I'm a little worried that I might not be able to afterwards. I kind of felt like this was my once chance and I can't do anything about it.

Zach 9/24/2023 6:38 AM

of course if they reach out, you can let them know that you are happy to wait until THEY feel ready to work on it and, that should make it easier yeah I know what you mean its very tough,,,,

awaaa, im sorry ;w;;;;;

Paige 9/24/2023 6:44 AM

Yeah I wish I knew

I just don't want to upset them

I've had to ask Momo if I could sit in on their collab streams and Ames was fine with me being in Momo's chat but not theirs. I'm also having to ask if Ames will be okay with me being in Momo's vc for movie night Tuesday and I'm still waiting to hear back about that. I just don't want to be forcing Ames to talk to me just because I want to commission them

Zach 9/24/2023 6:54 AM

mhm, which is understandable but

I think you should also take yourself into consideration in this

Especially for Movie Night because, I remember you mentioned you wanted to join but didn't because you didn't want to make Dizzy uncomfortable, which I get... But I also feel like you shouldn't be isolating yourself from doing things with others because someone is there

Paige 9/24/2023 6:57 AM

I know but if that person needs to distance themselves from me, putting myself into their space without their permission seems selfish to me

Zach 9/24/2023 6:58 AM

That's always going to be the case regardless of what happens

Sometimes we have to make decisions based off how we feel as people

Paige 9/24/2023 7:00 AM

I know but I'd rather Ames be comfortable and have their boundaries respected than for me act on my own desires

Paige 9/26/2023 8:15 PM

You think so? Honestly I've felt a little unsure if Ames would put down any boundaries with Nat but I don't know how their relationship is. I can't say if Ames has already had conversations like that with Nat because the one time Ames told me they told him to not act the way he has been, he ignored her and nothing else came from it.

Zach 9/26/2023 8:17 PM

I think this break from Ames is helping them realize how important it is for them to place their foot down. Of course bringing something up to someone is one thing but actively setting that line down over and over helps to make someone realize the thing they are doing is wrong and Ames probably realize that Nat is getting too many chances and he still doesn't learn

Paige 9/26/2023 8:21 PM

Well I just hope you're right. Ames hasn't really told me a lot about what's been going on between them and Nat other than them telling him to stop when that one instance happened and telling me she still cared about him before she needed to distance herself from Nat and I.

I admit it worried me that they seemed to not understand that this is a common thing for Nat and I wasn't sure they knew that side of Nat so I began to try to talk to Ames about it and they told me they weren't comfortable having this conversation. I had to stop and slow down, reword and express myself properly and tell them more deeply how I felt without it feeling accusatory and she apologized saying she could see how those things felt restricting for me.

but ultimately it felt like Ames kept giving Nat the benefit of the doubt and maybe seen him as a friend that could do no wrong despite all of his blatant actions towards me.

But I don't know, I just hope it's like you said

Zach 9/26/2023 8:35 PM

Yeah I understand that :cc

It could also be how... close those two got with each other, ya know?

In some ways, I understand where Ames is coming from. They want to trust Nat and believe he will come around in due time. I was thinking the same until I started to see your side and you told me everything. Its that fear of... seeing that side of someone and having that break everything

On my end, I have that fear too. I try to give logic and write it off as "Oh its Nat being Nat" but... I can only go so far as I see how its hurting you and ames... In fact, Nat is indirectly affecting others as well and... it sucks really seeing how much he is affecting others outside of those who knew

Paige 9/26/2023 8:42 PM

Maybe but I'm not entirely sure how close they were? Felt like the only time I've seen them interact is in VRC.

Well as far as I've seen, Ames didn't seem like they were open to hearing a lot about what was going on. I can understand as someone who doesn't want to get involved but at some point, there's got to be a moment where they need to have some kind of heart to heart about what's going on? idk. I know how apprehensive Ames has been to it all and I don't want to force anything but I don't want Ames to find out the bitter and aggressive side of Nat the hard way either.

Paige 9/30/2023 1:13 PM

They were doing the chat interaction with Momo for the game but they seem to have went afk

Zach 9/30/2023 1:13 PM

Yeah I'm... hoping its not the case tbh

Paige 9/30/2023 1:13 PM

Honestly I'd be pretty hurt if they were

Zach 9/30/2023 1:14 PM

i genuinely hope it isnt the case

Paige 9/30/2023 1:14 PM

I know there was some VR chat party with Ames and some other friends last night and I was sure Nat wouldn't have gone because Dizzy is there but idk

But yeah Dizzy and Nat are no longer in the stream

So was Dizzy okay with Nat being there but not me?

I don't know what to think

Zach 9/30/2023 1:17 PM

please take it easy, okay? ill try and figure things out,,,

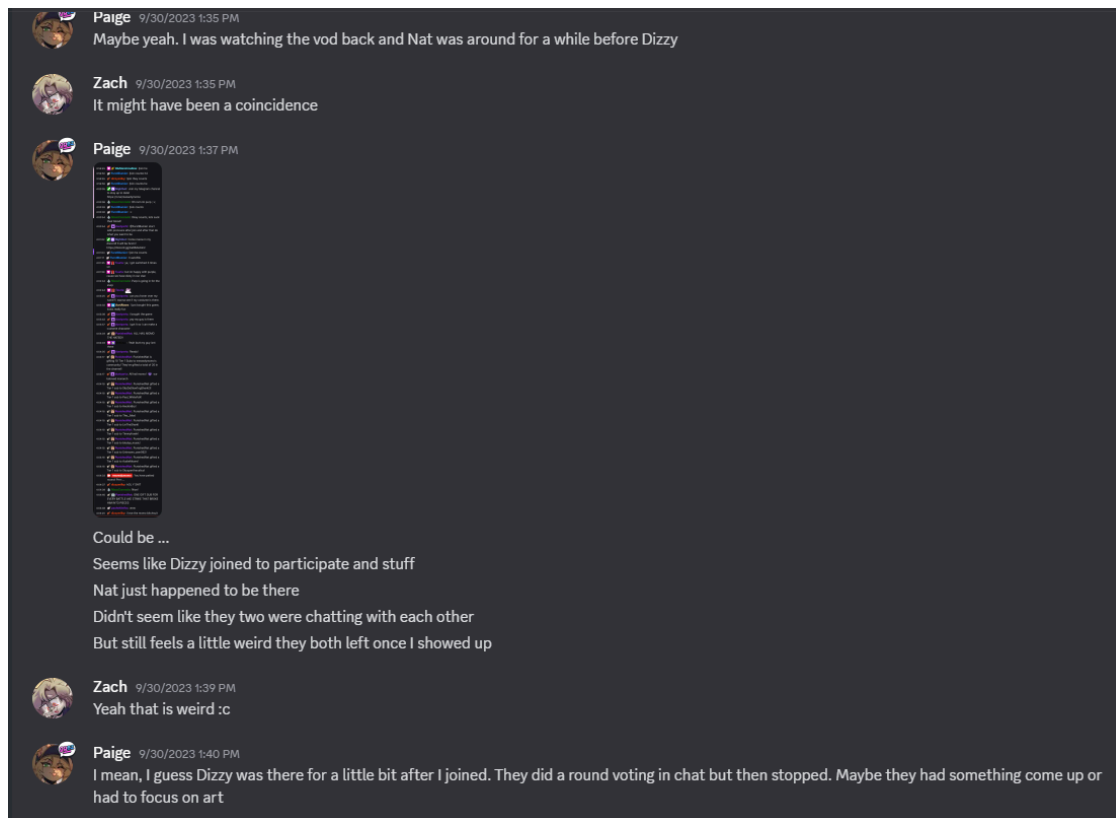

Paige 9/30/2023 1:17 PM

I'll try

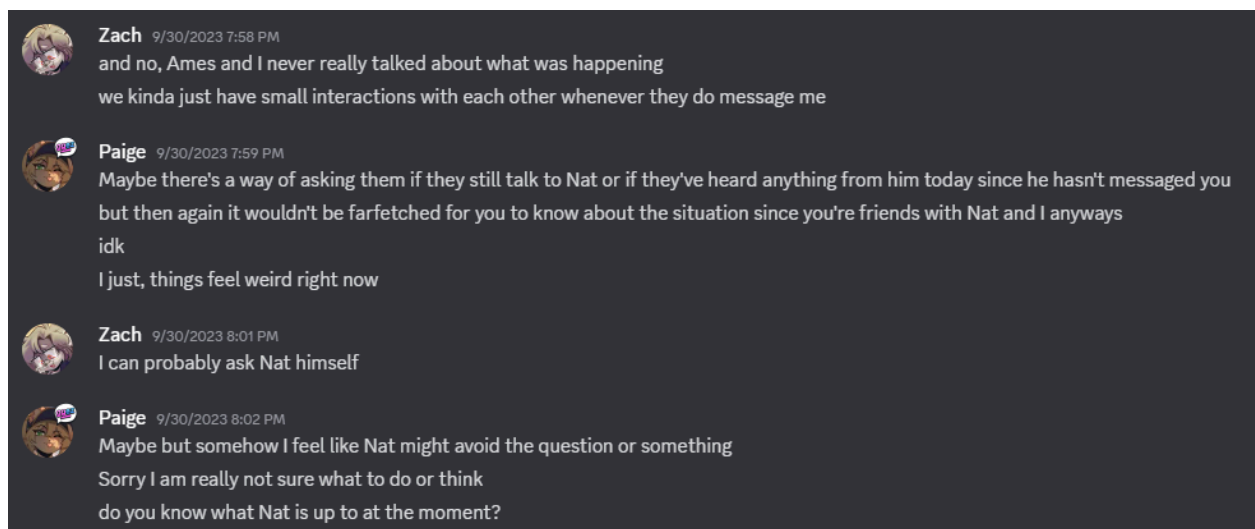

It could just be bad timing kaybe

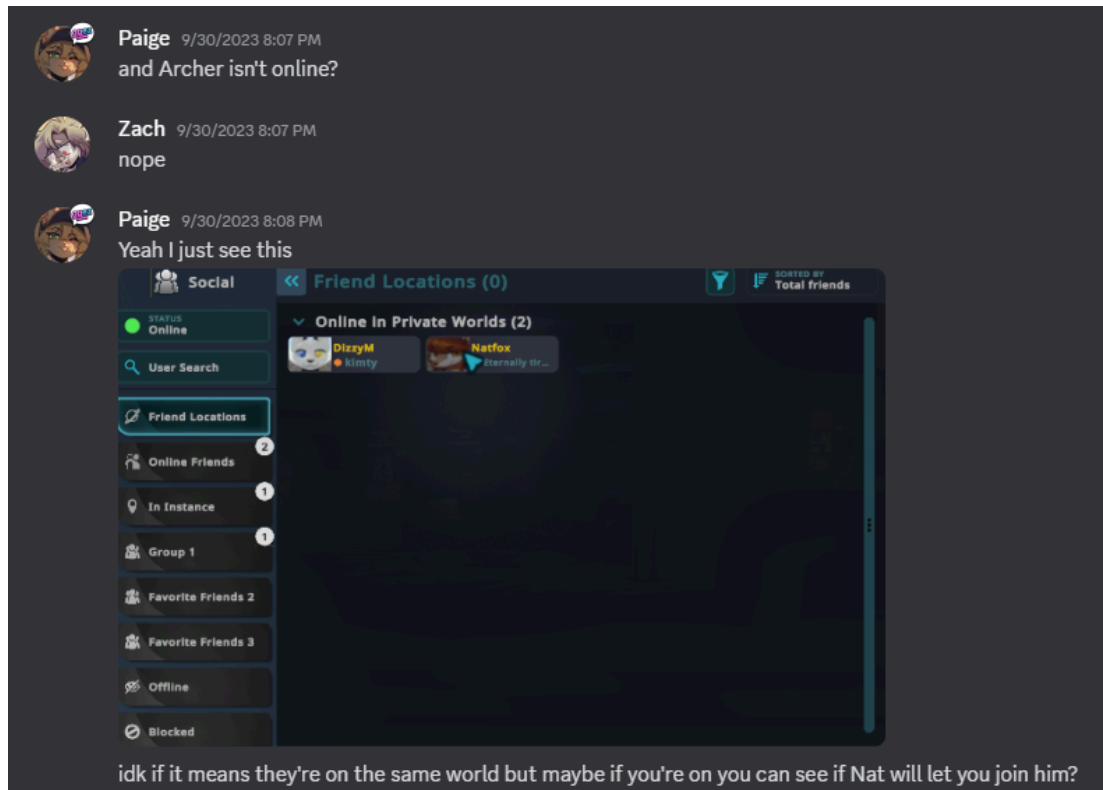

*maybe

Idk

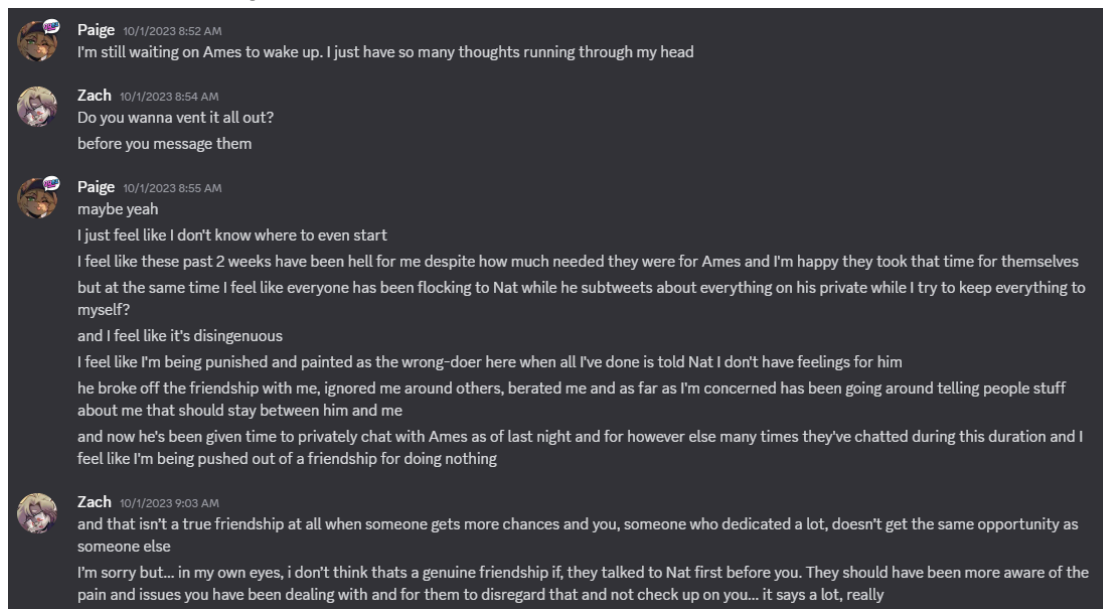

At somepoint, it was getting to a point where Paige was keeping track of Ames's activities, as mentioned, be it doing streams with friends, commissions, art streams, lil events they were hosting, or, in this case... them hanging out in VRChat! This was all coming from an area of distrust that he was having, believing that Ames was not staying true to their word and was talking to Nat in VRC. Throughout this, Paige would be asking me if I had Ames friended on VRChat or if I knew what Nat was up to, as given in the screenshot below.. It was getting to a point that he wanted me to try and join Nat's instance just to determine if he was hanging out with Ames or not.

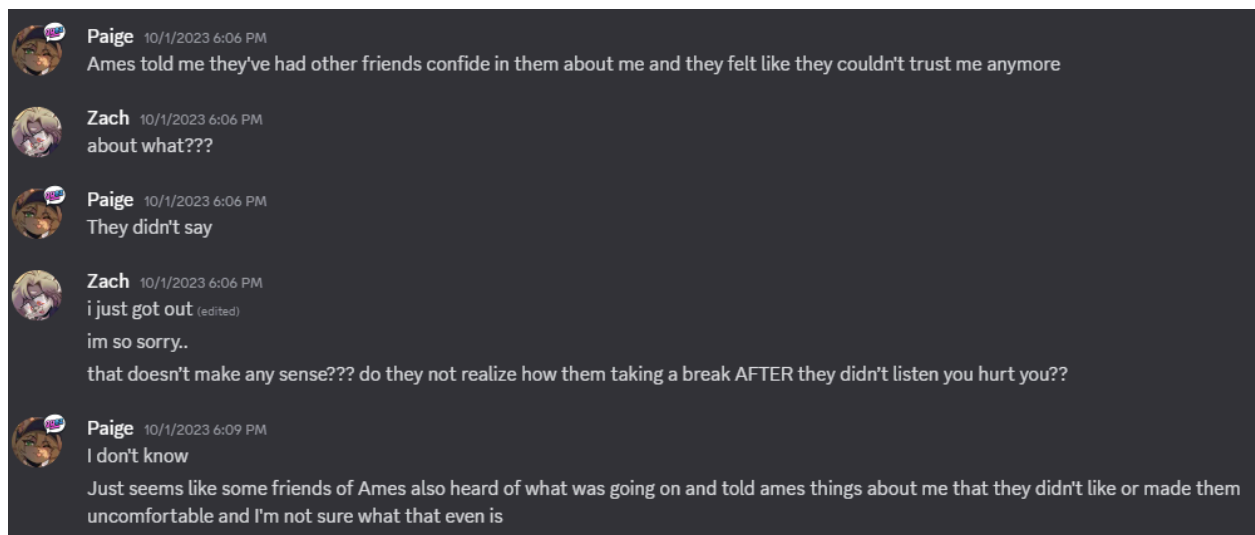

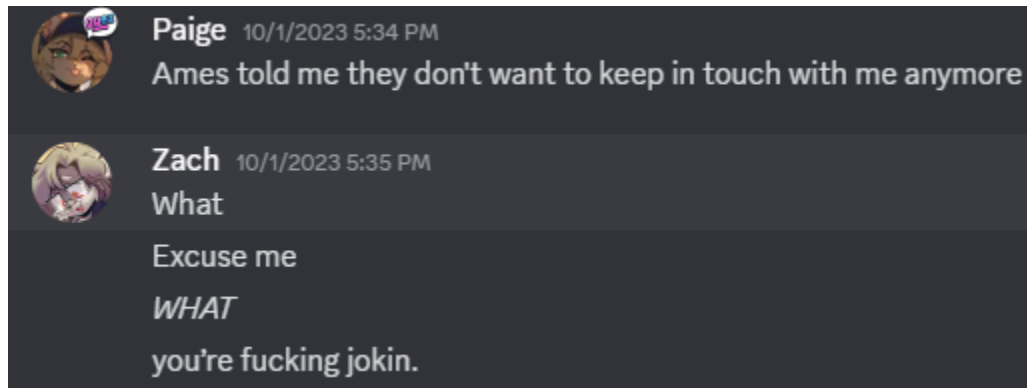

I can confirm, considering that I called with Nat that very same night and we were chatting together in discord voice call, they did not hangout at all that night.

This event alone, would lead to a series of events to occur, which leads up to Paige wanting to make a “callout post” on Nat to call him out for being transphobic. Paige, that very same night, mesasged Ames wanting to talk and, before they had their conversation, vented to me about what he was feeling ahead of time.

They did talk that day, I am well aware of what was said between both of them and how everything was structured and stated... It was Paige airing out his dirty laundry to Ames regarding Nat, everything that he has seen and the resentment he held towards Nat.. All in hopes to clear his name and to make Nat seem as a bad person.

While I did not know it at the time, considering that Paige never fully told me the entire story of what was happening, which is something I do want to touch on soon, Paige was constantly going to Ames's friends and asking them about Ames. The majority of the times, the conversations were simply about Ames, wanting to know how they were doing and what they were up to, seeing Ames's friends as.. A means to keep track of what Ames was doing; tools... and disregarding them once he got the information he wanted. He never truly treated them as his own friends, he only ever talked to them since they were friends with Ames.

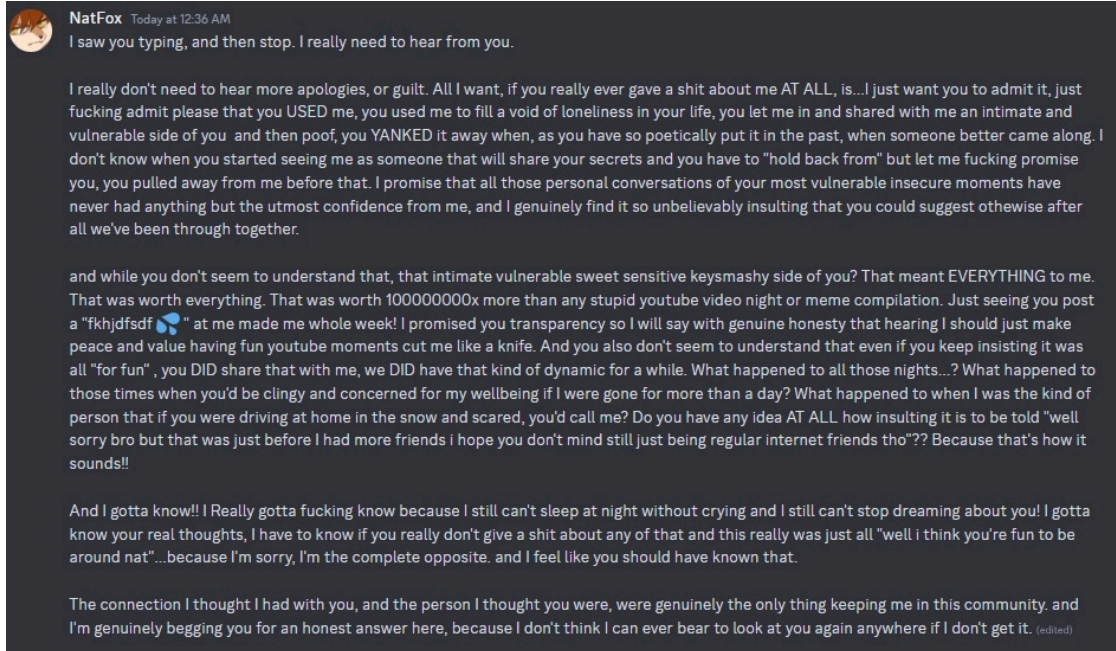

=====

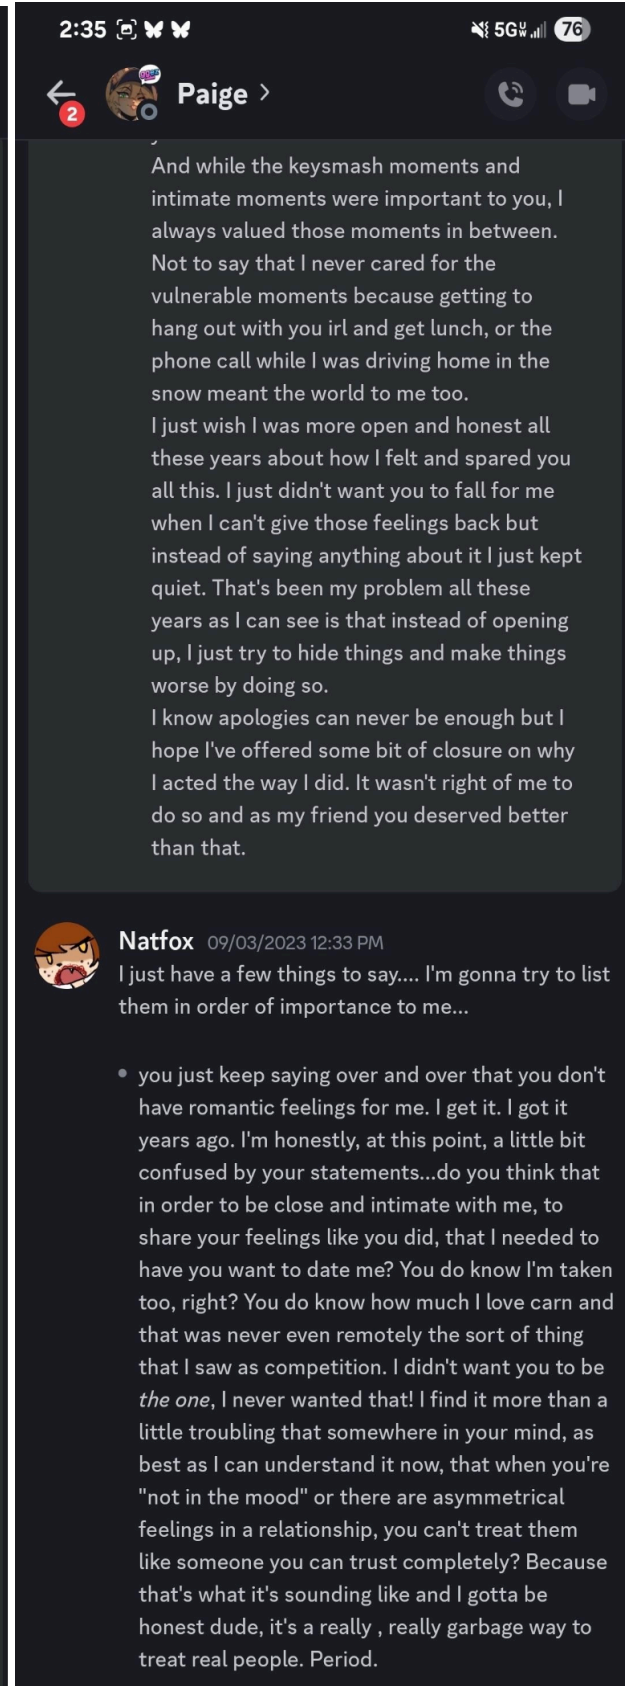

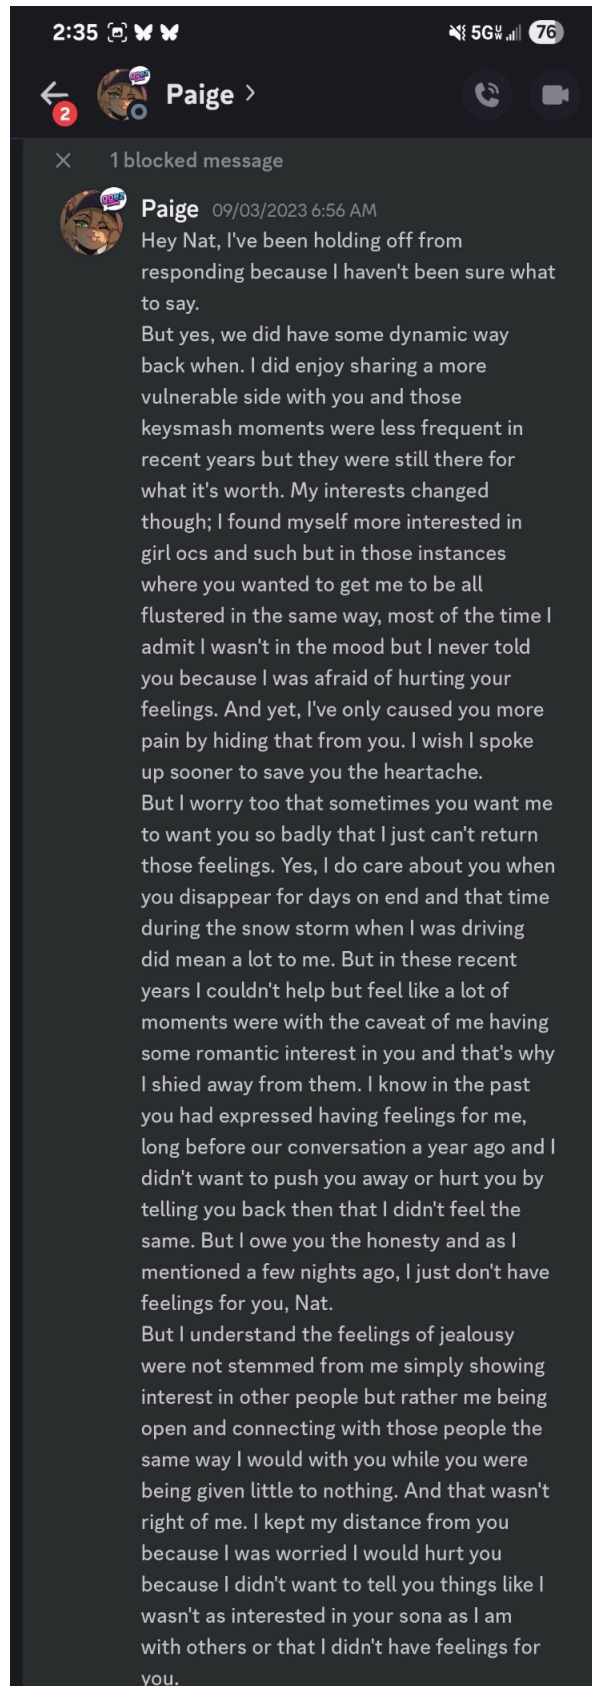

Paige and Nat

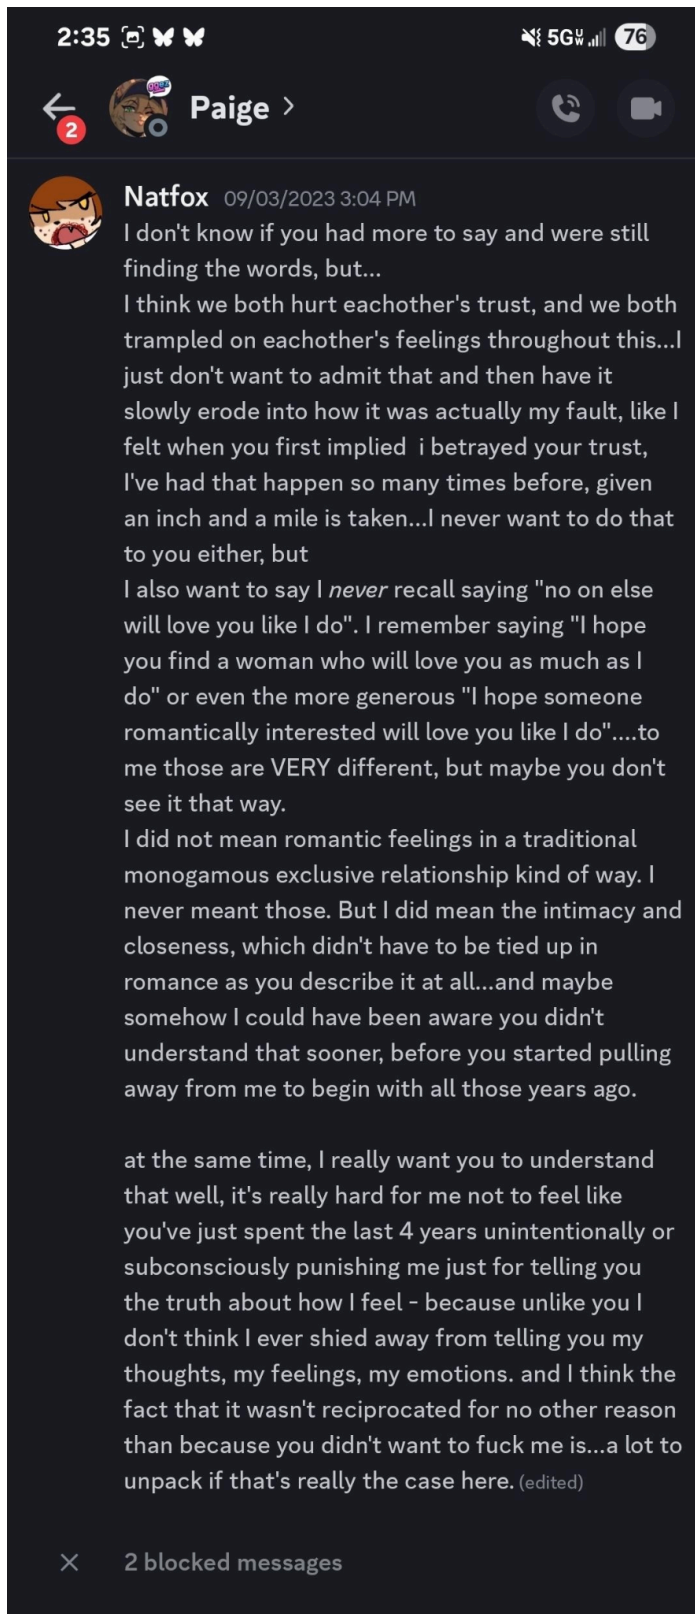

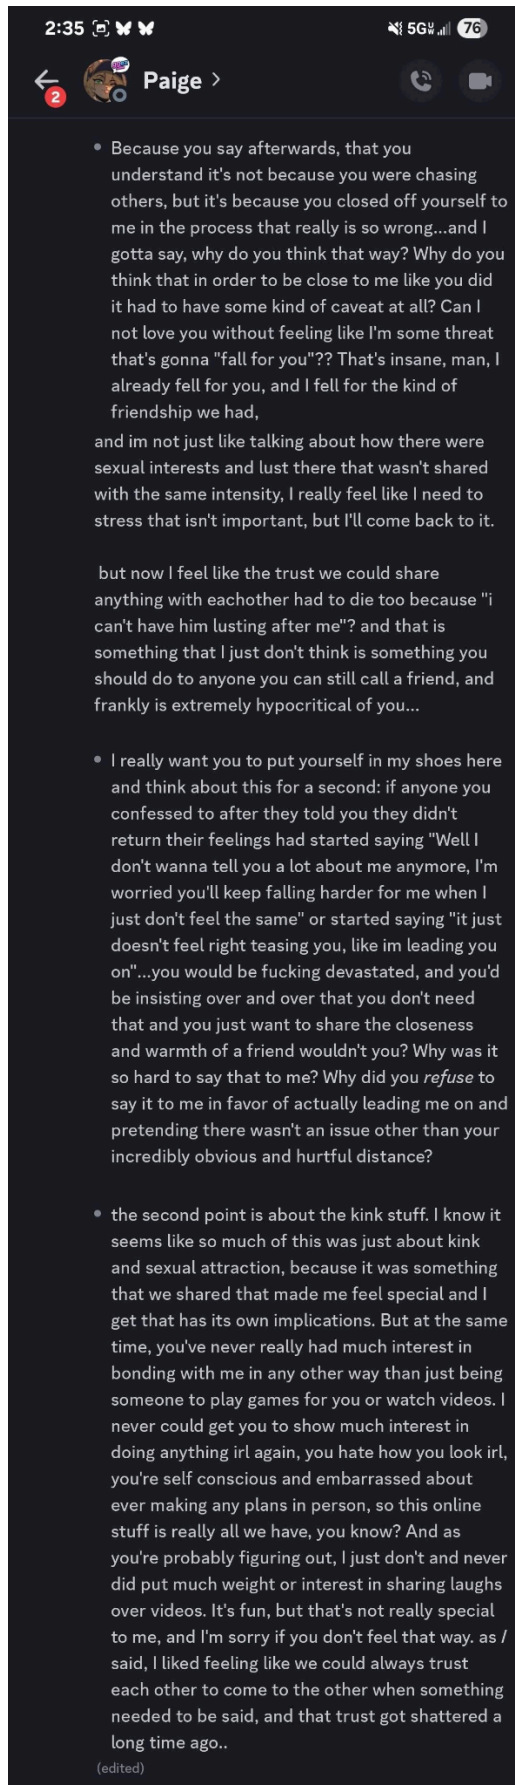

I'm going to start this section with the assumption that all of you have read through Nat's thread, or understand the actual issue that happened between them. To share a bit more as well, this is the last conversation that Nat and Paige had before Nat cut Paige off. The whole argument about Nat breaking Paige's boundaries is just, false. As mentioned, it was all Paige. It has always been about Paige's behavior towards people and actively hurting people, be it intentionally or not. Nat HAS communicated this to Paige so often, as you can see throughout the conversation, and expressed how hurtful this behavior has been towards Nat. Yet, Paige refuses to even acknowledge that he has deeply hurt Nat by his behavior and refusal to even change.

Throughout this entire time, from the very start, Nat has not ONCE mentioned these conversations to anyone, or even have explicitly demonstrated the content of that conversation.. He has mentioned it but, he withheld so much of the conversation out of respect for Paige's boundaries and personal information.

✕ 2 blocked messages

Paige 09/03/2023 3:20 PM

That's true. I guess that's how my mind read it, you know? To you, you were showing how you wished I'd find a woman that cared about me as much as you did. To me I thought you were expressing how much you were interested in me compared to anyone I would find. I'm sorry to have assumed wrong.

But yeah, I always assumed romance was your intent and I should have made that more clear on my part that was what I was misunderstanding. I know you want me to show interest in you and do stuff with you or show appreciation for you. I should have at the very least done that much.

I admit I worry sometimes about doing stuff with other people because I don't want you to be jealous of that and the attention and interest I'm showing them. Like, I do like doing stuff with you and the artwork you got from Sparky I absolutely loved. I can't tell you enough how many times I told you I love those renders you make for me too, right? But I want to be honest and truthful with you and I'm just not sure if I can show interest in enough to make you feel appreciated like you used to. Like, the interest is there but most of the time my "idle fantasies" tend to lean towards girls and I don't want you to be hurt by that and how often that happens.

I'm sorry for misunderstanding your thoughts and intentions.

I think in all honesty, I would want to distance myself for some time. And I'm doing this for me. I think I just need time to adjust myself and be better, you know?

Natfox 09/03/2023 3:33 PM

The same goes for me. I don't know if we'll ever manage to be as close again as we were. I'm not even sure if I want that anymore if I'm being up front....maybe we've both changed, maybe we both saw only what we wanted to see in the other.

I just needed to hear if there was really something that you valued about the way we used to be, and you felt something for me back then that wasn't just a friendship tainted by what you saw as these one-sided feelings...I hope you understand why leaving that unsaid was horrible for me. I can only guess how you felt, truthfully....it was hard to know how much you cared at all. "valued your friendship" just...didn't have much weight or trust behind it when it was contrasted over so many other events in our lives.

I don't have anything more to add really. I'll leave you alone, I was already prepared to do that, but there were just too many things left misunderstood and confused....I'm still not coming back to social media, I don't even think I want to come back to any servers, so don't worry, you really aren't gonna see much of me.

I'll just end by saying that you should trust your friends in the future more not to judge you for shallow things. Your appearance was never anything I had a single negative thought about.

(edited)

✕ 1 blocked message

Paige 09/03/2023 3:41 PM

I understand Nat. It's possible we both have changed, yeah. I'm sorry I never spoke up in the past about how I felt. I just want you to know that I appreciate you for what it's worth and I'll be sure to trust my friends more going forward. Thank you for caring about me. Hearing you tell me that about my appearance means a lot. Truly.

Please take care of yourself, okay?

Thank you for everything

September 14, 2023

Natfox 09/14/2023 6:26 PM

Now that the sketch pack has been posted, I'd like to formally request a refund for the month of august, the same as you would in your terms of service to anyone else you'd deny patronage to, at your earliest convenience.

Thanks.

Throughout all of this, during this period in time, a lot of the stuff that I knew about the situation was coming from Paige's perspective. Nat, outside of me asking him what was bothering him, never really... talked about Paige or stated anything that would break his trust. The story that Paige has been constructing about Nat constantly shittalking Paige, when it was him the entire time talking to people and spreading information to people. All of this would MAKE people question Nat and inquire about the issue, thus making the issue known to everyone! All he did (Paige) is talk about how much he wanted Nat to be happy and move on from this, yet at the same time he would also air out his dirty laundry to me about what Nat as done. The tipping stone to this, was the moment Ames chose to not be friends with Paige anymore and it push Paige to, quite literally, threaten to make a callout post on Nat to be seen as a transphobe!

Mind you, considering all the shit Paige has about what Nat has done, he was more willing to cancel him for being a transphobe instead of actually having grievances. He only wanted Nat out of the picture just to keep Ames for himself.

Paige 10/3/2023 12:13 PM
Another friend of mine and Ames thinks I should put together a callout on Nat at this point. Things have gone too far

Zach 10/3/2023 12:15 PM
I dont know honestly... I kinda wanna wait for him to say something regarding it
I'm not a huge fan of callout posts and... I really do wish he learns to stop

Paige 10/3/2023 12:16 PM
It's more than this, it's based on things like transphobic comments and such he's made too. Stuff I told Ames about and yet they still talk

Zach 10/3/2023 12:16 PM
Transphobic...?
What?

Paige 10/3/2023 12:17 PM
Here. I'll just show you what I showed my other friend. Like honestly I never wanted to bring this stuff up because I hoped Nat would have changed and done better but I just see he keeps digging his claws into other people and things won't change

Zach 10/3/2023 12:20 PM
Give me a bit to read these,,, I'm at the gym so imma take some time between my breaks to read these

Zach 10/3/2023 12:27 PM
See, this is why I... dont comment my views on stuff like this

Paige 10/3/2023 12:28 PM
Like idk
maybe I'm just being rash to want to throw a callout post together
I'm not sure
or maybe it needs to be done because I feel like many other people have come to me about Nat in the past but they cut him off before he could reveal a lot of himself like this

Zach 10/3/2023 12:30 PM
I support trans rights and all my friends that are Trans. As a matter of fact, I DEBATED transitioning myself as I was questioning my own gender (as I was non-binary for a while) and... Yeah. But I dont think a callout post would really do much what it would do is just cause a back and forth of "exposing each other", ya know?

Paige 10/3/2023 12:31 PM
Yeah ... it's way too messy in reality while I don't have anything to "expose", I know Nat would find a way to twist my words and he'd be good at it and it'd only cause further divide
In other news, Ames and I have been chatting with each other in Momo's server and it feels nice ;;

After everything, he firmly believed that Ames removing him was based off Nat telling them to do it, which was never the case. Ames has confirmed this to me personally that it was a personal decision and gave me the reasoning as to why he removed him.

Yet, for someone that has told Ames directly that he understood, and has told me that he wanted to respect that decision, he actively tried to make Nat seem as the perpetrator in this situation. This would be stance he would believe for a while until much later when I confronted him and told him everything I was thinking.

Paige 12/20/2023 2:52 PM
Would he prefer to have the version included with his sona and have everyone pinging the both of us?
Does he really want that?
Like I don't get him

Zach 12/20/2023 2:52 PM
I guess he likes the attention, as much as he says he doesn't lmao

Paige 12/20/2023 2:53 PM
not surprised. He's an attention whore
To me, I'm just surprised Dizzy is keeping in touch with him after everything I told them
Sometimes I just wish I could get a frontal lobotomy or something so I can forget them. I'm tired of being haunted by people who have made my life hell

Zach 12/20/2023 2:54 PM
People just have different stories with someone, honestly
It does hurt
I know that pain because i feel that way myself

Paige 12/20/2023 2:55 PM
Yeah well all I knew was that Nat was good at "domming" Dizzy and making them flustered so that's why they kept them around

Zach 12/20/2023 2:55 PM
who knows the reason, honestly... I just think its best to leave it in the past and, recognize that Karma will come in due time

Paige 12/20/2023 2:56 PM
I just feel slighted by someone who I considered a close friend for years. I did everything to right my wrongs with them and still they pushed me aside for someone like Nat. They saw first hand how abusive he was to me and heard me weeping in tears about the things he's done to me and still they choose to talk to him and cut me off

Zach 12/20/2023 3:00 PM
Everyone reveals their true intentions when push comes to shove. Maybe there is more to it outside of Nat domming Dizzy and what not. You'll never know that full story, the same way Ames wont know the full story and it's in between because she never experienced what you went through with Nat
We can express how someone made us feel and say that they witnessed he was abusive... but that also becomes a question of what THEY thought of it... whether they agreed to it or not, that is more on how they view it as everyone sees things in life differently

3:02 PM They felt forced to pick... And I think that is evident that, Ames still wanted to be friends with you

Paige 12/20/2023 3:02 PM
It just feels hypocritical of them to disregard the things I told them when they told me they were going to stop keeping in touch with me because of things their other friends had said about me

Zach 12/20/2023 3:03 PM
and it is it was a wrong move on their end... but we all must live their the consequences of our decisions sooner or later, Ames will realize how easily they'll be casted aside by Nat when given the chance as he told me.... he's willing to burn every connection and bridge he has if it means to avoid people he dislikes

Paige 12/20/2023 3:05 PM
I hope Ames realizes that, even if they still don't talk to me I just hope they realize what they did and how unfair that choice was and how much pain I went through because of it.
For me now, I just want to forget everything. I'm so tired of being in pain

Another thing I want to touch on, the claim that Nat has made about Paige stealing $300 dollars from him. That is a question that I see everyone doubt/don't believe since there is "no proof" about the claim.. Here you go. You can argue that this is a breach in trust but, at this point, all of you wanted proof of all of this, there is going to be a huge breach in personal information to demonstrate this. And before you ask, I was given permission by Nat to put this into the document as it's something I REALLY do want to bring attention to.

06/21/23	ZELLE TO CURRAN ISAAC ON 06/21 REF #RP0RC4X3NS RAY	$100.00
06/16/23	ZELLE TO CURRAN ISAAC ON 06/16 REF #RP0RBTPGQD SIMONES REQUEST	$300.00
05/15/23	ZELLE TO CURRAN ISAAC ON 05/15 REF #RP0R8JT7YV I HOPE THIS HELPS W	$200.00

.....yes really x////x
silke can't take all the credit for this!! I seem to recall a certain amount of persistent electrical shocks...the brain is electric you know...
also... :3 <https://twitter.com/P4wSized/status/1668947027256827905>

PAW SIZED (@P4wSized)
Reminder that comms will be opening up again tomorrow!
Twitter • 6/14/2023 7:42 AM

Natfox silke can't take all the credit for this!! I seem to recall a certain amount of persistent electrical shocks...the brain is electric you know...
Simone 6/14/2023 10:06 AM
I remain innocent... 🤔

Natfox also... :3 <https://twitter.com/P4wSized/status/1668947027256827905> 📎
Simone 6/14/2023 10:06 AM
!!

Natfox 6/14/2023 10:07 AM
It would be kind of cute if you'd fill out the commission form, word it like I just wanted it sooo badly 🙏🙏 and then just let me pay for it-

Simone 6/14/2023 10:08 AM
Oooh, you would trust me with that? 😊
Sure, I can do that! But can you let me know when the form is open?

Natfox 6/14/2023 10:10 AM trust is a strong word but also @Simone Sure, I can do that! But can you let me know when the form is open?

Natfox 6/14/2023 10:10 AM
the urge to treat this like a command and just snap to attention is so strong...
yes I will though <3

Simone 6/14/2023 10:10 AM
Good boy 🐶

You're viewing older messages Jump To Present

Simone 6/15/2023 2:22 PM
Awh, thank you!! Do you know how long this form will be open?

Natfox 6/15/2023 2:27 PM
It's usually 24 hours but i will ask!
...as i said that he said "a day or two"

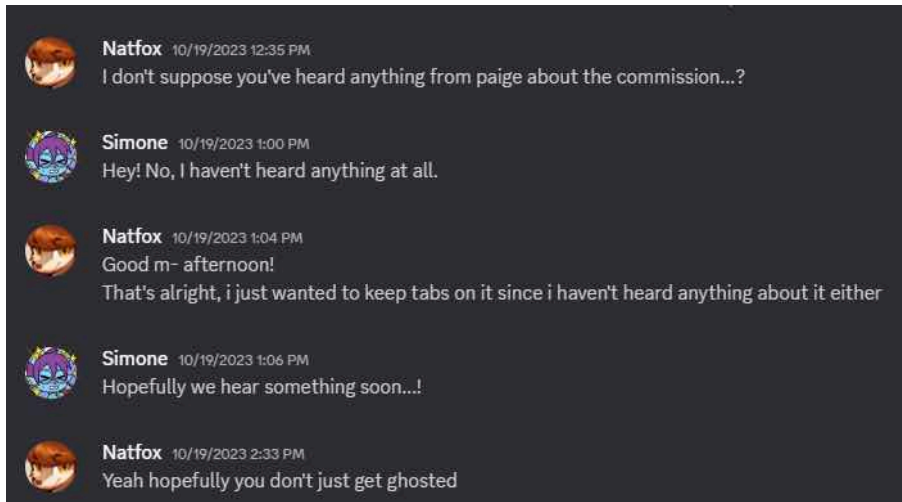

Simone 6/15/2023 2:28 PM
Ahhh okay! I'll try to get something in tonight. I'm hoping to doodle out a quick ref for myself if I can get the time

Simone 6/15/2023 11:54 PM
Sent the form off!
I didn't include any embarrassing details, so don't worry about it or ask Paige

June 16, 2023

Natfox 6/16/2023 3:10 PM
That doesn't make me nervous at all
...But he accepted it and I'm paying it when i get home...

Simone 6/16/2023 3:11 PM
😊🙏

I've shown this around to a few people, some people have seen these screenshots before all of you and, still choose to defend Paige. JCPisma is one of the people that I have shown these screenshots to and they have continuously refused to acknowledge the fact Paige has stolen money from Nat and has never refunded him the money to THIS DAY.

The screenshots are in order so there is no issue regarding the screenshots being mixed around.

=====

My experience with Paige

There is something I do want to touch on and explain a bit more. I was left in the dark during all of this. I, never truly understood what was happening and what was right or wrong in this situation until a year later when I started asking around for answers. Paige would, deliberately leave information out of conversations in order to paint Nat as a terrible person, someone who was actively trying to make him seem as a bad person towards a mutual friend of theirs. Someone who, he believed, was being favorited for no apparent reason... and I fell for those lies. It wasn't just a mixture of what Paige was telling me.. It was also a mixture of people like Kana and Marxvee whom were feeding into these lies that Paige was creating in hopes of making Ames view Nat as a bad person, and making me distance myself from him.

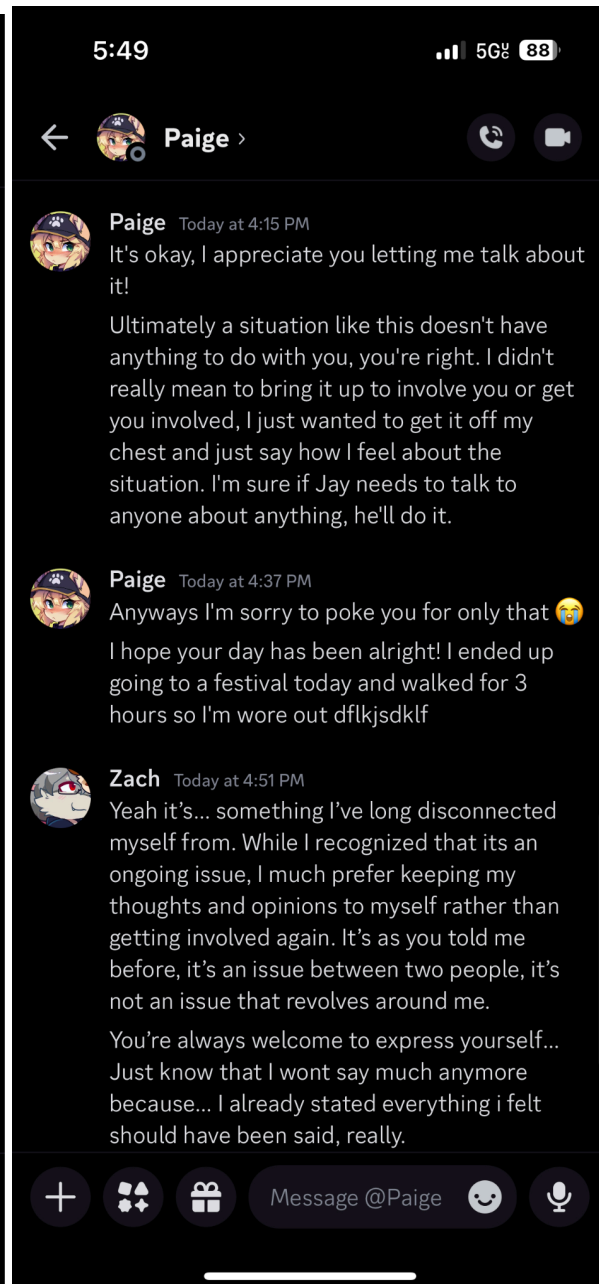

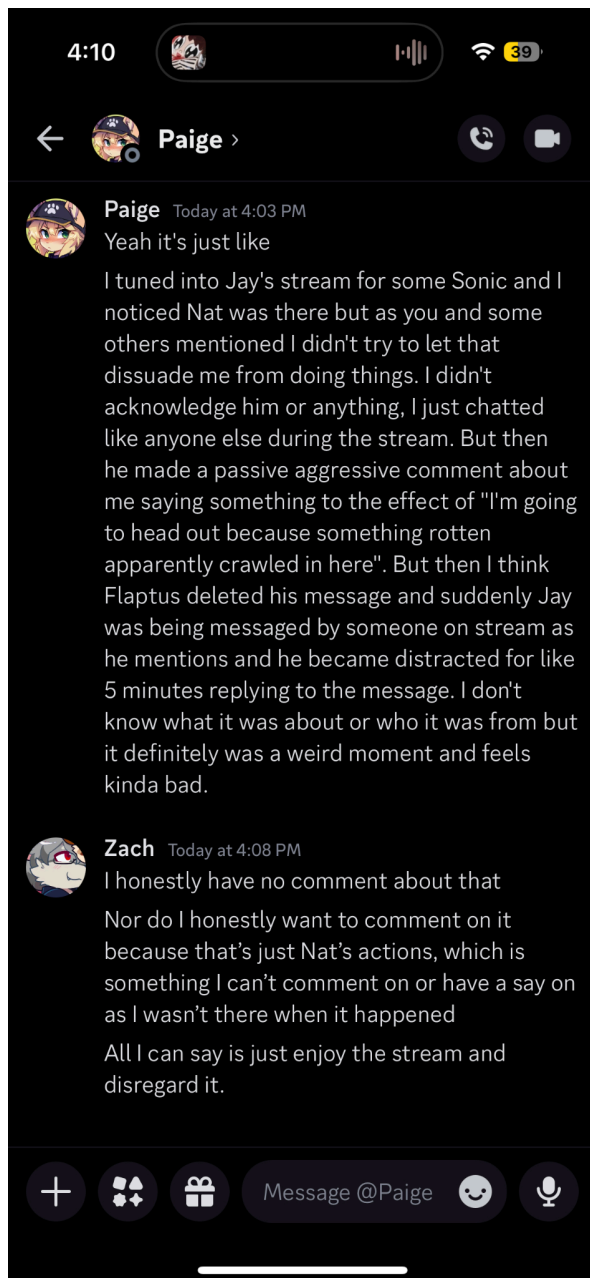

The truth about all of this, is that this was never about Paige wanting to keep his friendship with Ames. Or to be more specific... he never views Ames as a friend.. More like a tool/prize to win over and keep for himself. This is the same way he has made me feel through my friendship with him, especially towards the end, once Nat and I were mending our friendship and started talking once more.

I want to state this flat out and make it known just... to avoid letting Paige hold something over my head: I tried to make my friendship with him work. I tried incredibly hard to, stay in the middle and believe that my friendship with him was mine alone. Not something that my friends could dictate or something I should be shunned for. Yet, it was getting increasingly hard to try and maintain my friendship with Paige as a result of feeling some sort of resentment towards me. There were constant complaints I had from him, mostly about him venting about how Nat was behaving towards him publicly, how he was uncomfortable to be in a vrc world with Khorme.. It was all getting to a point where it felt like, he wanted me to do something. Almost as if he wanted me to tell Nat to “be nicer” to him, or to tell him off for his behavior. Yet at the same time, it felt like all of this was being thrown at me again, in hopes to make it seem like Nat was a toxic person (Hey that sounds familiar, doesn’t it, Kyro?).

To bring attention to what I have stated earlier before transitioning to this small segment of this document: I felt like a tool. A prize that Paige wanted to win over and, make me hate Nat once again. It was frustrating. I did not like knowing the issues that was happening behind me, as I had my own issues to deal with at the time. Furthermore, I do not like having responsibility be thrown at me, and having passive aggressive statements be made towards me for not wanting to act on it. It felt like I was obligated to know every bit of information of what was happening, how bothered and attacked Paige felt and how he expected me to be the adult to slap Nat on the wrist and tell him to behave....

I did not like that. His whole response was, about us not respecting his boundaries.. But realistically speaking, he never respected ours. He simply assumed that he was able to ignore our boundaries and impose his own onto us and roll with it. He ignored Ames’s feelings and boundaries and continuously stalked them for a few weeks, hell, a few months after the decision was made. He ignored how I was feeling when I stated that I did not want to be involve or did not want to make a comment regarding the issue between him and Nat during Jay’s stream.

Even then.. I wanted my friendship with him to work. And I continued to try until I just, felt like it was not amounting to anything. He can twist the argument on me and state that this is about how I got upset with him for ignoring how I felt about some of the ideas I had with him or how he would behave differently around others people and disregard me— no. It was never truly about that because a part of me felt like... he never truly cared about me as a friend.

There was an instance where, when I talked to him and expressed everything I was feeling and brought to light how I felt lied to. How he kept me in the dark and refused to let me know what was happening, he got upset with me. He was upset that I went to talk to Ames and Nat to understand the full story of what was happening between all of them, and he told me that he felt like I betrayed his trust.

He withheld information that was, honestly important to me since I was involved in a situation that was never intended for me. I was brought into this because Kana failed to mention what was happening, I was brought into this to be some sort of mediator and to get Nat to calm down, to try and resolve things peacefully for everyone... and yet I wasn't told the full story until I finally asked to be told everything that led up to the moment this all happened. And I was being ridiculed and being told how he was hurt by the fact I went behind his back to finally connect the missing pieces to this story I was kept in the dark for?

That hurt. It makes me feel like I was being controlled and everything that I did up to that point was.. Being controlled by Paige and by others that just wanted to see my friend hurt.

Zach 8/15/2024 10:49 AM and every time you brought up an issue that involved Nat... it kinda made me feel like you wanted to paint this bad image of him in my head.. knowing I was good friends with him and after I've told you I wanted no involvement in it anymore. and when we argued... it solidified that thought in my head where... it felt as if you were trying to win me more and side with you instead of letting me just, remain neutral and make my own friendships and dedicate my time to those I want to dedicate my time to... (which is also unfair being that I feel like I've done my best to try and spend time with you as well but there was also something that prevented it) and your apology recently, didn't exactly help out in trying to dissuade that thought from my mind.. I, feel like a prize you are trying to earn, Paige. Of course this can easily be disproven but, its the way you've been making me feel and I, don't really like that. While I appreciate knowing that you care and still want to be friends with me, I don't want to be seen as an item/prize to win.. All I want is to be given care and love, the same way I have given it to you..
I feel like every time Nat got brought up... there was that small feeling of you wanted to get me to say Nat was in the wrong.. which isn't something I can deny either.
I've admitted to him multiple times I disagree with the way he handles things. and I've stated it publicly as well.

Paige 8/15/2024 10:54 AM
Honestly, I'm more or less baffled that all of this is coming up. I didn't see our discussion we had a few weeks ago as an argument but I'm sorry if I made it feel as divisive as it was. I had a lot of hurt feelings come up that night and things that still remain a lot on my mind to this day. I do admit I feel hurt that I asked to keep things between us and even though you agreed to, you went and started poking around with other people about it without saying anything. If it was going to be a problem, I wish you would have just told me no. To be honest it kinda hurts my trust a little.

Zach 8/15/2024 10:54 AM and seeing you... essentially throw all the blame on him that night, heavily sat wrong with me. I didn't like it because I knew that you were also to be held responsible for things that happened between you two.

Paige 8/15/2024 10:54 AM
And when I first brought up when you posted that Nat picture and stuff, I'm not sure what you mean by me saying I was interested in other people and such. You may have to remind me as it was a long while ago to me.

I was acting off so little information. Everything I have done, up to that very point where I started to dig deeper and understand what had happened, I was never told the full story and yet, when I wanted to understand, I was told that it was a bad thing. There was an argument him and I had and he asked me to not talk to anyone about it, even though it was clear I was left bothered and hurt by that argument we had... he mostly cared about how people would view him and never truly cared about how I felt.

It's why I have so much anger towards Paige, why it bothers me to see him frame all of this as an issue that is ONLY focused on his boundaries, when really, it about his behavior towards Nat, Ames, and I. He ignored all of our boundaries and he still continues to try and mislead everyone to believe we are just causing issues for no reason. There is a reason, and its that you keep dodging the topic at hand.