SL: Hey [name], check this out

I recently saw a number of your videos on your YouTube channel where you gave advice to aspiring or seasoned microblading artists on how to succeed in their craft using your tips. It's wonderful that you're taking the time to offer such informative details.

While watching three of your videos on tips to “improve your microblading brow mapping”, “finding microblading clients”, and “microblading success” I had the idea to create an opt-in page that offers a short but informative Microblading Guide to Success using the information from those videos. A great strategy to GROW your consumer base is to have people join your email list.

I've gone ahead and put together an opt-in page that could make this happen.

I propose we have a quick call this week if you enjoyed what I put together.

If not, that's okay, please let me know.
