Why did you enjoy your stay in Turkey? Why not?

I enjoyed my stay in Turkey because it allowed me to meet new people, communicate, and know more about that country ,culture, traditions beautiful nature, different food, kind people

The things I liked?

meetings, tours, nature, friendly people, art workshop, try new food, the school teacher, Samsun, good collaboration with other participating countries

The things I didn`t like?

Food, science workshop at university, the activities should have been more experimental (for the students) and less demonstrative, little free time. The students of the Turkish school don`t participated in the non school activities. Weather.

The things I learned during the project meeting...

How people from other countries live, history and traditions, courage, communicating better in English, turkish words, holidays and customs of Turkey

I got acquainted with the beautiful nature of the hilly area. I got an idea about education in Turkey.

That trying your best is better than being the best, cooperation can lead to beautiful results, I learned about ramadan and a bit of Muslim religion, the way children learn in Turkey at school, some of their dances/food/costumes, science can be fun.

To be more sociable. Saying some things in other 3 languages .

I also want to add...

I'd like to visit Turkey again. Teachers were perfect :)

We look forward to extending the project! Thanks a lot to Sengul! I wish Salim to learn English...Thanks for the warm welcome and hospitality

I think there should have been more activities for joint activities between students from different countries. I also wanted to organize joint events for teachers from different countries.

we missed an opportunity to develop other type STEAM activities besides arts.

The Turkish school needs to participate in more projects and more mobilities to understand how some things can be done. They make a great effort to understand some difficulties and how to resolve them.

It was a fun week, but I think I could've been a bit better

More varied activities

I also want to add, I liked it and want to continue to participate in this project.

This exchange was the most beautiful experience and from which I learned new things and made friends with children from other countries.
