

Homework

You will need to submit six (6) one-page papers between now and the end of the quarter. The guidelines for all six papers will be the same:

One full page in length, typed, double-spaced. In your paper, you should be sure to summarize connect and respond

The guidelines will be the same whether you are writing about a video or an article.

When I say summarize, I mean that you should share some of the main points--your paper must include some specific details, and not just generalities (the article was about the brain and the many wonderful things it can do...). Pretend that I have not read the article or watched the video, and tell me some things that I could not have figured out just by reading the title.

Secondly, you should connect the article or video to a specific concept or definition in your textbook. For example, "The main focus of this article was _____ which is covered in our text in chapter _____, and is defined as _____.

Lastly, please respond--include some observation of your own about the article or video. Tell me something you liked about it, or something you didn't like. What did you find interesting/surprising/upsetting...? Did it remind you of some real life situation you've encountered? Explain.
