Prof Adri Breed

Adri Breed is an NRF-rated (C1) associate professor in Afrikaans descriptive linguistics at North-West University. She specialises in Afrikaans syntax and semantics, with a particular focus on the evolution of tense and aspect constructions in Afrikaans and other West Germanic languages. She completed five degrees at NWU: Business Communication (B.BK, 2005), Theology with Languages (B.Th. Languages, 2005), an Honours in Afrikaans Linguistics (B.A. Hons, 2007), a Master's degree in Afrikaans Literature (M.A., 2007), and a Doctorate in Afrikaans Linguistics (Ph.D, 2012). During her doctoral studies, she spent approximately ten months at the University of Antwerp in Belgium as a collaborator of the Center for Grammar, Cognition and Typology. She is the deputy director of NWU's School of Languages (Potchefstroom campus). She was one of the authors and moderators of Taalportaal (www.Taalportaal.org), as well as the editor-in-chief of the Virtual Institute for Afrikaans (VivA) Language Education Portal.
