

Name: Charlemagne

Nickname/s: Charles, Charlie

Age: ...

Species: Heroic Spirit

Height: 6'1

Gender: male

Sex: male

Pronouns: he/him

Occupation: Servant

Appearance: Picture

Personality: A carefree young man who somewhat bluntly says that he views himself as not very suitable to be King of The Franks or Holy Roman Emperor. He bases his aesthetic standard and behaviour on whether something is "cool/awesome" or not, even if that will be a handicap for the Master, or even to himself. Despite this personality flaw, Charlemagne is described as a conscientiously benevolent king that would weep and laugh with his people and also help those who are in need.

Charlemagne prefers for people calls him Charlie, Chuck, or Charles and often insists his comrades to call him by the shortened version of his real name, as he considers "Charlemagne" to be "kind of a heavy name for me to carry around these days". This may be an attempt to differentiate himself from Karl der Große.

Likes: training, cool things, battle

Dislikes: Karl der Große

