

When starting your real estate business, it's important to get your name out there. A good way to do that is to have your own personal panels put up at your listings. This will ensure that any drive-by's will call your number instead of the office number. Here is how you can order your own panels:

Simko Signs

Simko Signs makes all of our signs. They already have Listing Leaders MVPs' approved sign layout, so all you have to do is call with your info and place the order. They have a wide variety of sign options. Some options are:

- 18"x24" corrugated step-in signs (Sits in a metal frame. This type of sign is stored and maintained by the agent)
- 24"x30" metal hanging panels (Standard panel for hanging signs)
- 4'x4' corrugated commercial signs (Agent is responsible for storing and installing)
- 4'x8' corrugated commercial signs (Agent is responsible for storing and installing)
- Sign riders (Agent is responsible for hanging Pending or Sold riders)
- House cut-outs
- Car decals

Once your order is complete, Simko will let you know. If you are having the 24x30 hanging panels made, you will need to drop them off at the Crown Point office. Once they have been dropped off at the office, our processor will let the sign installation company know to pick them up. They will hold onto your panels for future sign orders.
