Suggested subject line: Toxic foods to watch out for 🐾🥑

Dear [Name],

Dear Pet Owners,

We hope you and [Dog name] are doing well!

We wanted to take a moment to remind you of some foods that are toxic to dogs. Please make sure to keep these items out of reach and contact us immediately if your pet has consumed any of them.

Grapes and Raisins are a big no-no for your furry friend. Even small amounts of grapes or raisins can be toxic and lead to kidney failure, so please make sure to keep them out of reach.

Chocolate, although delicious for us, contains methylxanthines, which can cause vomiting, diarrhea, seizures, and even death in dogs. So please be mindful of where you keep your chocolate stash!

Macadamia nuts, which are commonly found in trail mix, cookies, and muffins, can cause weakness, incoordination, and overheating in dogs. If your pet has consumed any macadamia nuts, please call us immediately.

Rhubarb, although healthy for us, is an irritant and contains oxalic acid, which can lead to kidney failure in rare cases. If your dog has ingested rhubarb, please bring them in for evaluation as soon as possible.

Onion, garlic, and chives are poisonous to dogs and can cause anemia, vomiting, and diarrhea. If your pet has consumed any of these foods, please bring them in for evaluation and treatment.

Avocado plants contain Persin, which can cause vomiting and diarrhea in dogs, and if consumed in large quantities, can lead to choking or blockage. Please make sure to keep these out of reach as well.

Please remember, if you suspect your dog has consumed any of these toxic foods, do not hesitate to contact us immediately. It's better to be safe than sorry.

We recommend that you avoid feeding your dogs 'people food' as it can be toxic to your pets.

Common poisoning symptoms include: vomiting, drooling, incoordination, swelling of the mouth, abnormal body temperature, twitches and tremors, breathing difficulty, seizures, and passing out.

What to do if your pet has been poisoned:

- Immediately remove your pet from the source of the poison.
- Call us on +44 1234 123 123 for advice, even if your pet seems fine.
- If you can safely do so, collect a sample of the poison to bring with you to the vet, along with any packaging.

Thank you for taking the time to read this important reminder. If you have any questions or concerns, please don't hesitate to contact us at +1234123123.

Best regards,
