

-The Idea: Produces feathered wings, with a small chance of producing four or six wings instead of two. Wing color is the same as fur color.

-Dove Balm [Item]

Location: Dr. Lessau

Cost: Similar to Pussyblossom due to the very targeted effect

Store Description: A tube of Dove Balm

Tooltip Name: Dove Balm Tube

Tooltip Description: This is a small tube filled with a white microsurgeon-laced gel, to be rubbed into the skin. The Steele Tech-brand labeling says it will cause the growth of feathered wings in most species when applied to the back. A small warning label says that in very rare cases it may produce more than one pair of wings.

Effects

PC does not have wings:

75% chance that the PC grows feathered wings. 15% chance that the PC grows four feathered wings. 10% chance that the PC grows six feathered wings.

PC has any wing type granted by this item:

80% chance of dud result. 20% chance of wing type changing to one of the other two types that can be granted by this item.

PC has any other wing type:

75% chance that PC's wing type changes to feathered wings. 15% chance that PC's wing type changes to four feathered wings. 10% chance that PC's wing type changes to six feathered wings.

PC's wing type is locked:

Dud result.

Consumption Text

PC does not have wings:

You {clothed: remove your [pc.upperGarments] and }twist in order to get at your back, carefully squeezing out the balm into a hand and rubbing it in as directed. After a few moments the affected area starts to feel warm, and you grunt as you feel the [pc.skinFurScalesNoun] bulge outward. {Gaining feathered wings: The bulging and the heat intensify until you feel a moment of pain followed by a sweet cool feeling of relief. A few warm tingles run up and down your spine as your body's rewired to work with its new parts, and you check your codex to discover you've gained [pc.furColor]-feathered wings!}{Gaining four or six wings:

Something feels off, you can feel more than two new appendages growing within your back. You start to panic, but the sudden burst of pain and blessed relief that follows do a good job of distracting you. When you recover and check your codex, you see that you've gained {four/six} [pc.furColor]-feathered wings! Well, that's certainly a rarity!} Upon rubbing your new feathers, you find them to be blissfully soft to the touch.

PC has wings not granted by this item:

You already have wings, but you'd kind of like to try out feathers. You rub the balm into your wingpoints, feeling a heat well up inside them almost as soon as you pull your hand away. Your wings practically melt into their new form like candle wax{Gaining four or six: , though it comes with an odd splitting sensation you're pretty sure isn't supposed to happen}. By the time your wings cool off, they've become {two/four/six} majestic [pc.furColor]-feathered wings!{ Wait, {four/six}? Well that's certainly unusual, though the label did warn you it could happen.} You pet one of your new wings, discovering that the feathers are deliciously soft.

PC has wings granted by this item already:

Even though you already have feathered wings, you opt to apply some of the balm to your wingpoints anyway. {Dud: A heat builds in your wings, then fades. You're not really sure what you expected to happen.}{Change to two wings: You feel your {four/six} wings grow hot and meld together, becoming a standard single pair once they cool off.}{Change to four or six wings from two: You feel your wings grow hot, then begin to stretch vertically before they suddenly split apart, new flesh and feathers growing in so that when the heat fades you're left with {four/six} wings instead of two.}{Change to four or six wings from four or six wings: You feel your wings grow hot, melding together and then splitting again so that you're left with {four/six} feathered wings by the time the heat fades.}

PC's wing type is locked:

You apply some of the balm to your wingpoints, but aside from briefly feeling warm, nothing happens.

Description Text

Two wings

A pair of [pc.furColor] wings adorn your back, feathered like a dove's and big enough to be worn like a cloak when folded over your body. They're strong enough to glide with, but nice and soft to the touch.

Four wings

Four wings sprout from your back, each covered in wonderfully soft [pc.furColor] feathers and big enough to be worn like a robe when all four are folded over your body. They're arranged so they don't get in each other's way when spread, thus you can still glide with them.

Six wings

Six wings sprout from your back, each covered in wonderfully soft [pc.furColor] feathers and big enough to be worn like a luxurious ceremonial robe when all six are folded over your body, which you often find yourself doing to help with getting through tight spaces with them. Despite their sheer bulk, you can still glide with them.

New Race Classifier

Pegasus-morph: Meets all qualifications for horse-morph, has any of the three wing types granted by this mod.