Father : " Do you see where your mother is, Gani?"

Gani : " I don't see her. Why don;t you look for her in her studyShe may be reading there or she may be listening to her favorite records. She couldn't be cooking in the kitchenhe . Poor mother! d She worked very hard yesterday. She must have been tired now.

Father : " I like to hear your concern about her, Gani. Shouldn't you be doing your homework now?"

Gani : "I think I should , but I've just discovered that I haven't jotted down anything in my notebook. So I don't know which math exercise I have to do. What a fool i am! I must have been a day dreaming when my math teacher assigned our homework. By the way, why are you looking for mother?"

Father : " Well , I want to ask your mother to have a refreshing by hanging out to the park. It might distract her mind from the tension of work.

Gani : " That 's goog idea! Can I join with you?"

Father : " Certainly. We shall have more fun together. But still, I suggest that you should call your friend to ask what your homework is and then do your homework first before join us.

Gani : " alright, Iam going to do my homework as soon as I know about it and I'll join you then."

Father : " That's good boy."
