

COPYWRITING SECRETS EMAIL PRACTICE

DIC 1.)

Subject Line: Write better than anyone in the business...

There's a huge distinction between writing good copy and amazing copy.

You can argue anyone can write a good copy, it's not hard at all.

But.. To write amazing copy you need the insider secrets, you need to truly understand a human's psyche and to be able to convince them to take action.

It's generally pretty easy to make something "interesting" but those with true understanding can take that interest and make it something people will feel like they need.

Almost a type of flame they ignite in their customer

The mass majority will never be more than mediocre because they lack the knowledge needed to take it further and you would be included if you did not find this

Were offering knowledge that will take you to the next level something that will eliminate all competition and propel you to success (link)
