

I know you clicked this document out of curiosity, or maybe even out of pure will, but everything you're about to read is how an 11 year old kid ended up becoming a 20 year old mentally ill person who can't escape anything they went through.

The events in this document took place all within the course of 8 whole years, it's a whole lot of testimonies and maybe even that one may consider to be "dirt", but should I be forced to hold any of this in any longer? I don't think so, it's eaten me alive for far too long.

A lot of this could have even stayed hidden longer had the perpetrators named in this document decided to NOT make this into a public matter where me and my girlfriend (identity disclosed for privacy reasons) would get DMs and questions relating to it.

I know I can't really provide a lot of proof or evidence of what happened here, and trust me when I say I've tried getting access to that, but you're going to have to take my word for it, all my past discord accounts are deleted, my old email is deleted, so I please hope you can trust me with all of this.

TW// Childhood abuse, Mental abuse, and Suicide mentions

Joining Scratch (2014-2016)

When I was 9 years old, I created an account on the children's coding website Scratch, on there I posted mostly rubbish, because what else could I really make at that age? On there, there was a community/subculture that caught my interest, the Logo community, and as you'd expect, it's a community online fascinated by logos, these guys particularly were fascinated by television or film logos, notable examples include "Viacom", "Screen Gems", "Klasky Csupo", there were people in this community who were fans of the bootleg ms paint show "Greeny Phatom", and made works similar to it, one particular subculture of this community was known as the "Brosses", typically depicting OC's derived from Greeny Phatom's main character, "Little Guy", paired with a baseball hat and a pill shaped body, I wanted to fit in and be part of this community so badly, that just like they did to each other, I copied what they did, I had all my oc's derive from theirs, and I had all but one goal, to be seen as one of them, there was a particular big name in this community who I looked up to, they were known on the site as "Mr20thCenturySamInc", he was best known for his OC, "3M", a green shield with the word "3M" on it, you can see him on the Battle for Dream Island Again Episode "Taste the Sweetness", and "MePhone4Bross", a "Bross" OC recolored in the scheme of MePhone4 from Inanimate Insanity, I loved his projects, I loved the kinds of things he did, and the kind of outlet he had, I ended up contacting and interacting with him so much, it made it seem like we were friends, and at times where he wouldn't pay attention to me or have me included in projects with him and his friends, I made sure I was looked at, and that's how I accidentally ended up in a community that I was never meant to join in the first place, this is just the beginning.

The Google Hangouts/Google+ Saga (2017)

By 2017, I had formally become friends with Sam, and as a result, he invited me to a group on Google Hangouts with another kid, Isaac, who was just a few months older than me, he invited me to this massive clan of logo fans known as "The Powerhouse of Entertainment", in 2017, Sam would express disgust, and intolerance towards how he felt about a certain chunk of Scratch users at the time, and I'd blindly agree with him, and even dislike some of the things they liked just to appease him, he declared war on the targeted scratch users by creating a Google+ Community targeted against them, and incited harassment and attempted defamation of them, of course, he encouraged me to do the same and made me feel as if I was obligated to do it for him, all because he felt his niche was better than the other, and as expected, I was given a bad name for it, I was accused of being the one inciting it, and I had my scratch account banned for it, nothing happened to Sam, no one even thought of him, even though he taught me all these nasty behaviors he was never held accountable for, but I was screwed over for, this was the first occurrence of this, and it would only happen again and again.

Throughout using Google Hangouts in the 2017, and being part of Sam's community, drama was an every day, constantly occurring thing, every other day, Sam would tell me to hate or go against a certain group of people, and I did, he taught me various disgusting or morally disturbing behaviors, and made me carry the guilt throughout my life while he was able to go on without even feeling sorry for himself and being able to keep his platform, there are still some people out there, who hold a grudge against me specifically, because I did something hurtful to them, when I was only 11/12 at the time, despite Sam teaching me these behaviors or inciting harassment against these people, I've expressed gratitude and have apologized a thousand times to those who I hurt, but Sam has never been held accountable or has even had to go through the guilt, emotional anguish, and stunted communication skills I got as a result of all of this.

The members of this community and the POE, did not treat me any better, another being, known as TR3X Productions, frequently set me up for failure, would bully me into acting out, commit acts of defamation or slander towards me, and everyone would agree with him or side with him because of how well respected and well known he was in this community, in November 2017, I stood up to people in his discord server who were actively bullying me, he got mad at me for that, because they would leave his server for it, and then he got everyone to hate me for it, then members of the community would post public slander or spread lies about me, proof of this occurring can be seen throughout pretty much the entirety of this video <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=itMT6mZd9VE> this livestream, hosted by former community member Finley Small shows members of the POE publicly slandering me, this was all incited by TR3X, all because I was standing up for myself against bullying in his server that he let happen, Finley Small is 5 years older than me, TR3X only 1.5 years, and they were dictating the way I did it as "immature", despite me being a 12 year old kid at the time, Finley was nearly an adult and he was in on publicly slandering someone who was basically a child, all because they stood up to bullies in a way the others didn't like it, Finley Small was already exposed for purposely plagiarizing me a long time ago, so nothing else about him will be said in this doc, and the people who bullied me on TR3X's discord server will not be named in this document, as the people involved during that day have paid their debts and apologized to me, so please do not contact or ask me about it.

After I got slandered online for standing up for myself in TR3X's discord server, the server became a haven for hatred and intolerance towards me, rants of me regularly occurred and they all wished failure in my passion projects at the time, TR3X would go as far as to create a livestream disguising it as criticism of my work, when all that was done was him riffing on it, I obviously saw through this and when I eventually looked at past messages in that server, I found out that his motive was to make me feel bad about myself, in the same video, he reviewed another project made by someone else, that was exactly of the same quality, which says enough. On January 27, 2018, I was pizzabombed, and the pizzabomb mission was entirely incited by TR3X's discord server, more attempts were made, but a lot of them didn't happen.

The Quiet Period (2018-2020)

In 2018, I distanced myself from as many logo community spaces as I could, while remaining in contact with people I deemed as my friends, Sam included, but behind my back, drama still constantly stirred, and at times I was dragged into it, and was pizzabombed a second time in Late September 2018 by another side of the logo community, in 2020, messages me and Sam had said about Isaac were revealed on a livestream with the help of TR3X, as a result of all of this, we held ourselves accountable, and Sam even vowed to change as a person as a result of all of this, saying he would put up toxic or disgusting behaviors for good, on my side, I was ready to leave the community, and things were going smoothly, until a fine day in June.

The Great Betrayal (2020-2022)

On June 12, 2020, things I did when I was 11-12 resurfaced online, which then turned into lies and overblown and overexaggerated things regarding me and who I was, despite doing everything I could to move on, and trying to change from who I was back then, a lot of the allegations accused me of perpetrating morally disturbing acts upon other people, despite as I mentioned before, a lot of my old behaviors being taught by Sam or other people in this community, who weren't being held accountable but were holding me accountable, some actions mentioned were things I straight up didn't do, and were blamed on me, despite my pleas and me trying to reaffirm the situation, nobody listened, and as a result, I closed my YouTube account and privatized my socials.

I remained private and as low profile online for the time being, but I also remained friends with those who understood me, and understood that who I was when I was 11-12 is not me, and that the lies and accusations against me were overblown, this did include Sam for some time, however, a year later, he joined a discord server that was created in the first place to keep me out, blocked and ghosted me on social media, I thought he was simply done with me, but then I learned, he regressed to exactly as he was in 2017, except, I'd argue he became even worse than he was back then, he gaslit himself into thinking I was the same person I was in 2017, while making racist remarks against me, and called me the N word while describing me in a made up scenario he made for "laughs", and during this time, he would continue spreading slander and full blown lies relating to me, again labelling me, who was 15-17 at the time, as being the same person I was when I was 11-12 to random people who didn't know me,

"But what he should realize is that this isn't obviously 2017 anymore, In fact IT'S BEEN EXACTLY HALF A FUCKING DECADE FROM IT", despite making this statement, he wouldn't hear me out, he was projecting the fact that he hadn't changed from 2017, while I very much have, the impacts of everything that I had to deal with at 11-12, and the anguish I had to feel from it during a teenager goes very deep, during 2020-2021, I had many sleepless nights, and I've even considered potentially dangerous and suicidal actions, I cried so much about how I didn't want to be seen as who I was at 11-12 and that people refused or didn't even want to see me as who I was, they all forced accountability upon me, but never took accountability for teaching me behavior they kept on having as years went by while I actively did everything to change myself for the better and prove that I'm not that guy anymore, this becomes very evident in the next chapter.

“Oh we never hated you, we secretly liked you! We’re better than ever!” Saga (2023-2025)

In February 2023, a very well respected member in their community, went out of their way to personally apologize to me for how they treated me when I was younger, eventually everyone in the community discovered this, and since this person was so well respected, everyone sent me friend requests on discord, and acted like they never hated me in the first place (keep in mind about the way I felt when they did what they did in the previous paragraph), Sam, and many others in the community would lie constantly in my face about how they felt about me, whether it be secretly liking me, or “being manipulated”, using the exact same rhetoric they would use from 2017-2020, while the person who apologized to me, did everything possible to pay their debts to me and admitted they were wrong, throughout this time, Sam kept his inherited toxic behavior from back then, and since he gaslit himself into thinking I was the same person I was at 11-12, he brought up old problematic inside jokes from the time that I now saw as a trigger, but he eventually stopped doing so, but he SOMEHOW got the message that I wasn’t the same person I was back then, as did everyone else, but I know why, and it’s clear as day why, because their leader decided to give me another chance, it wasn’t because I did anything, now you’re probably wondering.

“Why did you rejoin this community despite all the damage they’ve done to you?”

I honestly only made it seem like I was still cool with everyone, only so they would stop treating me like a pariah, and get off my back and let me move on, but even though it seems as if they haven’t stopped treating me like a pariah, they won’t let me move on, and will bring up who I was in the past nearly all the time, no matter how ashamed and upset and angry I was about it.

My mental health deteriorated even more, as they all continued to lie to my face, and only care about who I was in the past and not now, as if its a good thing and they never hated me for it, as I continued to feel anguish for who I was in the past, and developed severe trust issues and constant fear of being abandoned and turned against again, like they would always do to me as a kid, I eventually got therapy and was diagnosed with Borderline Personality Disorder on February 23, 2025

The Snap (2025)

By October 2025, I had enough of this behavior from Sam, and I openly confronted him about it on Discord, he didn’t speak a word, or even said he would hold any form of accountability for all the abuse inflicted upon me as a kid and teenager, or even give out as much as a simple sorry, he instead decided to remain silent, then go around telling everybody that he would be taking a break from Discord, he made a private situation public, and now all I'm getting messages about it, its annoying because he got everyone to feel bad for him, didn't elaborate on what actually happened, and now I've been put in a corner to where I have no choice but to make this document, and finally reveal all the abuse inflicted on me by Sam and the community for the entirety of my tweens and teens.

I know this is a long document, and if you read all the way to the end, thank you

Unlike Sam's rhetoric in 2017-2022, I highly advise against any form of harassment towards Sam, or anyone else in this document whose name is listed or involved, I don't want any unnecessary drama, I just wanted to open up about the abuse and the effects its caused me into my adult life.

I still do everything I can to distance myself from this community, no matter how much many of them want to be involved in new chapters in my life, I don't want to be seen as that anymore and I just want to formally move on in life, I hope any former or current community member reading this understands.

The moral of the story here is, don't force yourself into a community you don't belong, if you feel any situation or community agreement or norm is wrong, don't be afraid and speak against it, chances are, your involvement in anything nasty could only hurt you and not the perpetrator, stay true to yourself and stay safe online.