

Dexter Carter.

Born in 1946 after the end of WW2 as the illegitimate child of Peggy Carter and Steve Rogers.

Species: Mutant. Ability to teleport and to move forward in time / 'time-jump.' However, lacks good control of the latter ability. Highly linked to his emotional state and done in times of great emotion or danger.

TIMELINE OF LIFE:

1946: Born after Steve has gone into the ice and WW2 is over.

1956: First time jump at the age of 10. He was being chased down by Hydra agents on the way home from school, triggering a first jump forward of 15 years.

1971: Arrives from first time jump, still aged 10. By this time, Peggy has moved away and no one believes he is her missing son due to the fact he is still 10. Gets adopted by a new family after being placed into a care home for boys.

1976: At this point, he is now aged 15 and has adjusted to his new family. Despite missing his mother, Peggy, he is grateful to have a sense of normality again. However, another jump forward is triggered when the family home goes up in a blaze. He gets trapped inside and, just when he is about to suffer from too much smoke inhalation, he jumps forward.

1985: Arrives still aged 15. Too scared to try to find his old family and worried he'll become a science experiment, he surrenders and goes back into foster care until he is of age. With such an interrupted education and lack of familial support, he struggles to go into higher education and so he begins work in manufacturing.

1989: Gets married to a local retail clerk called Heather Green.

1990: His daughter Margaret is born.

1993: He loses his job in manufacturing due to company layoffs and family begins to struggle financially, moving to a smaller home. Strain on relationship with wife. Eventually, discovers evidence of his wife's infidelity, causing an intense argument that triggers another jump.

2020: Arrives into the future where the blip has ravaged society. Has little to no money at this point and no qualifications to his name. Rather than facing homelessness, he comes out publicly as the son of Steve Rogers after tracking his father down and meeting him for the first time. He provides a cover story about his father's serum preventing his ageing. His claim is confirmed via DNA test and what remains of the Avengers (Steve and Natasha) ensure he has accommodations. During this era, he gains experience working in relief organisations, aiding people affected by the blip in the US, and reporting/broadcasting on situations occurring in the country to mobilise support and spread awareness of current issues.

2024: A year into the world's restoration following the second snap of 2023, he begins a new career as Public Relations Manager, settling into a more normal life. He prefers to be managing the spotlight and not be involved in it, particularly as he loses his father in 2023 (Events of Endgame.) Makes an effort to try and track down his daughter, who would now be 34, to no avail.
