

Income Disclosure Statement for Master Resell Rights Digital Product

This Income Disclosure Statement ("Statement") is provided to clarify and inform potential buyers of the Master Resell Rights ("MRR") digital product about the potential income and earnings associated with the resale of the product. Understanding that individual results may vary and success in reselling the product depends on various factors.

1. No Guaranteed Income

1.1. The income and earnings potential related to the resale of the MRR digital product is not guaranteed. The income that can be earned is highly variable and depends on the individual buyer's efforts, strategies, and skills.

1.2. The Seller does not make any guarantees or representations regarding the level of success, income, or earnings that can be achieved through the resale of the MRR digital product.

2. Buyer's Responsibility

2.1. The success and results obtained from reselling the MRR digital product are the buyer's sole responsibility. The Seller provides the product and associated rights, but the buyer must undertake marketing, promotional, and sales efforts to generate income.

2.2. The buyer is responsible for developing their business strategies, marketing plans, and pricing strategies to maximize their potential earnings.

3. Market Factors

3.1. The potential income and earnings from reselling the MRR digital product may be influenced by market factors, competition, consumer demand, and other external variables beyond the Seller's control.

3.2. The Seller does not guarantee or warrant the product's demand or suitability for any specific market.

4. Additional Investments

4.1. The buyer may need to make additional investments in advertising, marketing, or other business expenses to generate sales and income from the resale of the MRR digital product. These expenses are not included in the purchase of the MRR rights and should be considered when assessing potential earnings.

5. Testimonials and Examples

5.1. Testimonials and examples of earnings provided by the Seller or other individuals do not indicate the average or typical income expected from reselling the MRR digital product.

5.2. Any testimonials or examples provided are exceptional cases and should not be construed as a guarantee or promise of similar results.

6. No Professional Advice

6.1. The information in this Statement is for informational purposes only and should not be construed as financial, business, or legal advice.

6.2. The buyer should seek professional advice from qualified individuals or entities regarding their circumstances and business strategies.

By purchasing the MRR digital product, you acknowledge that you have read and understood this Income Disclosure Statement. The Seller does not guarantee any income or earnings from the resale of the MRR digital product, and the buyer accepts all risks and responsibilities associated with their business activities.