Top 10 Posing Positions

1. Arms Around each other - the arms around each other pose will capture connection and expression at the same time. Having the woman join her hands to his in this pose will connect them even more. You can mix this pose up by having him kiss the top of her head or by having them look at one another. Or even whisper something into his ear and laugh .

2. Looking at one another - Another great interaction that can guarantee connection is to have the couple look into each other's eyes. Having couples lock eyes may elicit a giggle for being put on the spot, or maybe they will get caught up in the moment and produce a genuine smile and connection.

3. Faces Together, looking at the camera - Faces together, looking at the camera is perhaps the most basic couple pose. It checks all the boxes of a classic couple's portrait. You can mix this pose up a bit by having the man slightly angled toward the camera with the woman behind him, laying her head on his shoulder, or having the couple embrace each other and then look towards the camera.

4. Walking Pose - It's a simple pose because almost everyone can walk. Tell a joke to one another looking at each other walking - go slow we don't want anyone falling over now ! you can hold hands and lean into one another whilst walking & stopping mid walk to lean in and put your head on your husband's shoulder is always a winner shot.

5. Foreheads touching - Similar to having you look at one another, the foreheads together pose can elicit a smile or a sweet moment between you both. It will get you close and connected quickly and doesn't require too much additional posing. I also love that this pose easily leads to a kiss

6. Forehead/cheek Kissing - What can I say? There is something so caring and gentle about a forehead/cheek kiss photo. This tender and simplistic act is seen and felt even more in an image. Hold hands or link elbow so the connection is much more seen - maybe try a hug/embrace after.

7. The Kiss - A simple kiss is a sweet expression of their relationship and connection. Even if affection doesn't come easily for them, starting with the foreheads together, this pose can easily lead to a sweet kiss that captures love in its finest.

8. Piggy back / lift - The piggyback pose will not work for every couple but will work for many newly engaged couples and is also something fun and different. It may even get you laughing while you work this out! Having her ride piggyback works well for couples with a significant height difference as it automatically puts her face even with his.

If piggyback just isn't for you at all, you can try a simple lift pose. Have the groom wrap his arms around the bride's waist or under her arms. Have the bride put her arms around the groom's neck. He can lift her or spin her a bit. - you can even fireman carry your new bride and have fun - be silly with this ! laugh with each other <3 - to end with a kiss in his arms.

9. Sitting together - So far, the poses we have mentioned have only required the couple to stand. If your location has steps, a bench, or lovely grass, make good use of it by having your couple sit together. Adjust hands and arms to be comfortable with each other, keeping you close and snuggled up :)

10. Hug from behind - this is great if the groom is either sitting down so the bride can wrap her arms around him hugging or if the groom is standing with hands in his pockets, side on the bride can lay her head on his back link arms looking at the camera gives a very romantic hug from behind.
