

TOUMAR-E-ANDISHEH ACADEMIC PORTAL
Official International Opportunity Document

SNU Contemporary Korean Studies will host the “2026 Seoul National University International Conference on Contemporary Korean Studies” for two days, from Friday, August 21, 2026, to Saturday, August 22, 2026, on the second floor of the Asia Center(Building 101).

Now in its third year, the conference explores Korea not simply as an empirical case, but as a methodological and theoretical lens for rethinking wider social, political, economic, cultural, and historical questions. The conference examines how Korean experiences can generate new concepts, comparisons, and critiques for rethinking modernity, democracy, culture, and global knowledge production. It will also provide a platform for domestic and international researchers to build networks of academic exchange and collaboration.

Date: August 21(Fri)-August 22(Sat), 2026.

Venue: Seoul National University Asia Center (Building 101), 2nd Floor

Contact: snucks2026@gmail.com

- * No registration fee for this conference.
- * Sessions in Track 1 will be live-streamed on YouTube(with some exceptions).
- * Simultaneous interpretation (Korean-English) is available on some sessions.

This document is a preserved archive of an international academic opportunity curated by Toumar-e-Andisheh Cultural Institute.

Website: tumarandishe.ir | Email: toumareandisheh@gmail.com