

Court Case Assignment

You will be given a slip of paper that tells you which group you belong to, please do not tell others which group you are in. Once you are in your group, you will want to look up your court case and write up some arguments for your case. You will either turn in the arguments or post them on your website by the end of class. Please do not let the class know the outcome/verdict of the case. You are suppose to present and give the jurors time to discuss.

The class schedule will be...

- Plaintiff side will open with an introduction
- Defendant side will open with an introduction
- Plaintiff will state their points
- Defendants will state their points
- Plaintiff will close
- Defendant will close

Participants will be the jury, they will deliberate after the case has been heard. They will render an opinion and tell class. There will be a discussion after the final verdict.
