

From The Basement Episode #237 December 4, 2023

“ENOUGH!”

While you were hopefully getting a restorative round of deep sleep I finally completed this episode and feel completely recharged. A few weeks filled with random circumstances out of my control began leaving grime on my trusty Rose Colored Glasses. All gone now as three songs I love that will perfectly explain the mood just popped in my head and I didn't even include one of them, but they really weren't needed. Dental issues, entering into the period of the calendar I dread the most and the ever increasing noise caused by the deranged ranting of an unhinged narcissist, hell bent on becoming our first Dictator were only contributing factors. I was mad at myself. I was censoring myself and felt dishonest, although by excluding Politics the intention was to not contribute to the noise. What the fuck? Editorial is limited at Mixcloud, so I explain in my first "Message From.." at the top of the episode. Since this stream is served from their platform I wanted everyone to see it. It's a music show, the radio show I hear in my head. I am proud of this one.

New Releases include Nicky Prince, James Mastro, Kurt Vile, Spector, Peter Gabriel, Yes, Norah Jones with Jeff Tweedy, Norah Jones with Brian Blade, Bill Evans, Victoria Bigelow, Porno For Pyros, BBY, Real Estate, Frank Zappa, Steven Wilson, Baker Gurvitz Army, The Third Mind, Mississippi Fred McDowell, Charles Bradley and The Doors. The cast of musical companions demanding to be involved contains Mose Allison, Childish Gambino, Bill Callahan, Argent, The Knickerbockers, The Castaways, The dB's, Aretha Franklin, Ian Hunter, Mott The Hoople, Tom Petty & The Heartbreakers, EELS, The Sports, Yes, Gene Ammons, Paul Buchanan, Mark Hollis, David Sylvian, Patty Griffin, Maia Sharp, Genesis, The 13th Floor Elevators, Dave Alvin, William Tyler, King Missile, Al Green & Lyle Lovett, Dr. John; Lukas Nelson and Promise of the Real, Tom Waits, The Who, Porcupine Tree, Fleetwood Mac, Ray Charles, Elvis Presley, Dean & The Weenies, Four Tops, Treat Her Right and Lee Michaels. I truly hope you like it and would love to hear from you even if you don't. Thanks for listening.

I wrote this on Election Eve, 2016, it seems like a lifetime ago and in some respect it was.
