

Viterbi Student Organization support

Student Organization Support (SOS) funding is available to Viterbi-affiliated student organizations through Viterbi Admission & Student Engagement. SOS funding is endowment-based and limited; the amount available varies from year to year.

SOS funding is a supplement to the funding organizations receive from other sources. SOS is the LAST place from which organizations should seek funds. Organizations should never rely solely on this source to fund an entire event, program, or conference.

USC Academic Departments

If your event is associated with a specific subject or department you are able to reach out to them to request funding for a specific event you may be doing.

Roski School of Art Ruth Weisberg Prize for Drawing

Awarded to one outstanding Roski undergraduate student selected in a highly competitive process each year, this prize could offer you $6,500 to help you find the research, development, production and gallery presentation of an independent art project. A faculty mentor selected by you will guide you through the different phases of the project from start to finish.

Handtmann Photography Prize

One outstanding third-year undergraduate student at Roski receives this competitive award annually. The prize of up to $5,000 is intended to help you produce and present a new photographic project, including printing, mounting, framing and installation during the spring of your senior year.

The Rebekah and Howard Farber Fund for Student Excellence

The Rebekah and Howard Farber Fund for Student Excellence seeks out one impressive Roski undergraduate BFA Art or Design student every year, granting $4,000 to support an endeavor beyond the classroom that has real societal value. The cash can fund work-related research, residencies, an art project and more.

Macomber Travel Grant

This award supports ambitious Roski MFA Art graduate students, along with third-year undergraduate students, involved in projects where research-based travel is key. It requires the winner or winners—the grant may go to an individual or a group—to make a public presentation of their project and findings.
