

Among The Stacks TRAILER transcript

[Throughout, beeping is heard]

Answers? Is that what you want? [echoing] I know you have questions, and I wish I could answer them. There are things that prevent me from granting you what you seek. Ancient orders. Beings with far more power than I have now. There was a time when such considerations would have been beneath me, but that age is long past. Now I must resort to speaking through fragile little creatures, [the distortion and echoing increases] specs of stardust and cosmic iron, puppeting them to be heard. Time grows short, and I feel my grip on this vessel growing weaker by the sec. [echoing whispers repeat "by the sec"]. I must get this message out. Listen to the stories. [strained] There is truth hidden within the stories should you have ear to listen. There will be more to come. Until then ... seek the library.

[A tinkling theme tune is heard, playing in the background. The beeping is no longer heard.]

Among The Stacks is an upcoming narrative anthology podcast set in an infinite library outside of space and time containing every instance of every story across every world. Featuring stories written by and starring some of your favorite podcasters, authors, and actors. The title of today's teaser "Things are getting ready to happen out of sight" comes from the poem "This Moment" by Eavan Boland. It starred Nigel McKeon as REDACTED. It was edited by Pippin Eira Major with music by Alex Schwartz.

You can find more information about this show in this feed or in our Twitter @AmongStacks where future updates will be posted. Until then, stay tuned, stay listening, and sapere aude.

[Transcriber's notes: The beeping sounds like it may be morse code, but I was not sure.]