Passwords & Passcodes

Creating strong and secure passcodes

To be safe, you need to know how to make a good passcode that's hard for someone to guess. Below are tips on how you can make and protect passcodes so that your online activity is safe and secure!

• Create long passcodes! Consider a silly sentence or rhyming words, so it's easy to visualize and, therefore, remember! • Use a mix of letters (both uppercase and lowercase), numbers and symbols to make passcodes even stronger. • Update passcodes every once in a while! This can make it even harder for someone to guess them.	• Use names of family, friends, pets, or popular TV or online characters. • Include things other people know, like a nickname, favourite colour or jersey number. • Avoid using private information, like birthday, school, age or gender in passcodes.

Rhyme Time!

Your Turn: Practice making your own super-strong, memorable passcodes using words that rhyme together, then add a number and a symbol, and see what you get!
