
 The following is not a full or complete description of my own personal thoughts on the content of LEAR.TXT, but rather it addresses an aspect concerning the source of some of his material from w hich he compiled LEAR.TXT. My full thoughts on the content itself will come later in a separate file. In addition I hope this file will also serve as an aid to understanding why yours truly erroneously implied certain things about how John Lear acquired some of his source in formation. First, let me list the offending parts of the statements as made on both ParaNet.Alpha and Lambda by myself in the preceding days. (1) On Lambda, I had said that "...quite a substantial number of references in LEAR.TXT seem to be practically lifted verbatim fr om the pages of George C. Andrews the "Extra-Terrestrials Among Us." (2) In reference to the now once again famous Giordiano Bruno, on

Alpha I said that John Lear's reference to him in his LEAR.TXT was almost "...repeated verbatim in the opening chapters of the boo k." (referring to Andrews' book). (3) And again on Alpha, I stated that John Lear seemed to have "...heavily relied on this particul ar UFO book for a good chunk of LEAR.TXT". In all three instances I goofed. And in retrospect I can see why John Lear would find them in sulting and offensive. For that I must apologize, these particular portions of my statements were ill-thought out and not based on fact, but as I hope to show, not without foundation. While reading LEAR.TXT, and some of John Lear's clarifying messages soon after, I experience d a sense of deja-vous concerning some of the content I had heard discussed. In particular, the references to both Giordiano Bruno (whom I m ust say I had not heard about as a historical figure of import, though Galileo does come to mind...), and JANAP-146, had set off "bells" rin ging, which regretfully, subsequently seems to have impaired my judgement. They had reminded me of the Andrews' book, of which I had read ce rtain sections, with both Bruno and JANAP being mentioned.

Hence, without referral back to the book in question, I proceeded to fire off a number of observations concerning LEAR.TXT and some of its "source" material. With hindsight, this was not a prudent thing to do. It was pla in stupid, and for that I take responsibility. It was never my aim to cast dispersions on John Lear's character by implying that he somehow plagiarized his hypothesis primarily from one source, a mediocre UFO book at that. In addition, by my implying such, I further denigrated his own personal efforts concerning some of the research he has done on aspects of the UFO phenomenon, in his attempt to bring about some clarity to an already overly confused issue. However, in an attempt to show that my own comments are not totally without foundation, and consequently were not intentionally of a malicious nature, I have outlined below, some of the similarities which I found between the two writings, and which in part were the basis of my inappropriate accusations. As I've mentioned elsewhere, it should of course not be surprising that there are similarities to begin with, since much of the information on and about UFO related matters is disseminated quite widely among those organizations and groups that are involved. Indeed, as John Lear would no doubt point out, many of the Andrews' book references which I use, are in fact references to other source material as done by other organizations, researchers and authors. In particular, the "mutilations" excerpts, as I'm sure John would agree is the case with LEAR.TXT too, are courtesy of the work done by Project Stigma. Having said all this, and in the hopes of advancing the debate on LEAR.TXT forward, I think it would be helpful if John clarified a few points concerning it, leaving aside for the moment the question whether some or all of the content is true or not. For instance, how much of LEAR.TXT do you consider to be the result of "original" research or inquiry? Regarding the particular scenario which was laid out in LEAR.TXT, do you consider that to be something new?, in that those who are involved in the active research and study of UFOs would generally be unaware of it (before you had "released" it of course). And without naming names, how many independent "contacts" would you say you have who are supplying you with firsthand-type knowledge, not just second hand information which has made the rounds? These, are just a few more of the many questions which you, like it or not, have some responsibility now towards answering. Surely you saw the barrage of questions coming, and I know you've

e shown an effort to answer most of them, yet there are still a lot of questions which need answers. I know that you can't, or are unable to answer them all, but perhaps a LEAR2.TXT is in order. How about it? Just remember John, no one's out to hang anybody, we're all here hoping to find a little more truth about the subject, occasionally if I or someone else gets out of line, there'll be yourself and others to point that out. As in this case, I admit I was wrong; and am sorry for it, however let us continue the dialogue in the hope that we can all benefit from each other's views and experiences so that we can get a little closer to the answers we desire.

-Tom Mickus

2/6/88**

 #1: LEAR-"The first truth stated here got Giordano Bruno burned at the stake in AD 1600 for daring to propose that it was real." E.Ts-"...

Dr. McDonald's courageous statements had provoked a torrent of derision and abuse, and he was being ostentatiously ostracized by his colleagues (in the tradition of Giordano Bruno, Paracelsus, Galileo, Wilhelm Reich, and a few other rare immortals)

. - [pp. 152-153]#2: LEAR-"In order to sustain themselves they use an enzyme or hormonal secretion obtained from the tissue that the y extract from humans and animals." E.Ts-"...that 95% of the mutilations were the work of extra-terrestrials, who need large amounts of biological tissue for immunisation procedures," - [p. 172]#3: LEAR-"In the event of a national disaster, cow's blood can be used by humans." E.Ts-"What is of possible relevance here is that the bovine hemoglobin molecule so closely resembles the human hemoglobin molecule that it is possible to substitute specially filtered cattle blood for human blood in transfusions. - [p. 204]#4: LEAR-"In some cases the incisions were between the cells, a process we are not yet capable of performing in the field." E.Ts-"Not one single cell had been destroyed. The incision was made between the cells, cell by cell. Not one single cell was even damaged." - [p.185]#5: LEAR-"The mutilations included genitals taken, rectums cored out to the colon, eyes, tongue, and throat all surgically removed with extreme precision." E.Ts-"Typically, only reproductive and digestive organs that we consider inedible are taken," - [p. 161]#6: LEAR-"In many of the mutilations there was no blood found at all in the carcass, yet there was no vascular collapse of the internal organs. E.Ts-"Another peculiarity about the mutilations is the way many carcasses have been drained of every single drop of blood in seemingly impossible fashion, as normally the veins would collapse before all the blood was taken." - [p.203]#7: LEAR-"Witnesses have reported huge vats filled with amber liquid with parts of human bodies being stirred inside." E.Ts-"She saw a vat containing unidentified body parts floating in a liquid, and another vat containing the body of a male human." - [p. 199]-In addition, I believe that John Lear also made mention of at least two other subjects while conversing with other ParaNet members via the Alpha message base. It was concerning CAT-scan detection of the 3mm implants, and with the military service regulation known as JANAP-146. I have supplied two additional references from "Extra-Terrestrials Among Us" which elaborate on them. (A) "Small metallic objects were implanted into both her body and her son's body. ... Examinations using the CAT-scan confirmed the existence of the implants." - [p.199] (B) "...but other witnesses insist upon remaining anonymous because of the little-known U.S. service regulation JANAP-146, which provides a penalty of up to ten years imprisonment and $10,000 fine for anyone in government service who makes an unauthorized public statement about UFO phenomena." - [p. 8] *****