

World of Satira

The Sylpedia

Aside from the individual one on one roleplays that may happen within the World of Satira, there will be canonical group roleplays; meaning involving 4+ characters. Once completed, they will be placed within the Roleplay History Book, and marked as canon with a time stamp and brief description of what had occurred.

The difference between the Contingencies Guide and the History Book is that canonical Contingencies actually have happened within the History Book, and can be built upon.

If there are otherwise characters not essential to the contingency, they will be notated in the “Extra” portion.

If an NPC is allowed, it shall be colored Silver. If the character itself is an NPC, they will have a green text.

The Election Contingency

Start Date of Contingency: Y1090
Place of Contingency: Les Trois Royuames

Description

As of the recent disappearance of one of the council members of le Conseil d'Or within le Roi Alessandrienne and recent death of Houdretus Oliverus de Baudelaire, la Trêve Triangulaire has decided to hold an election in Baudelaire's place. Three candidates have presented themselves – all from prestigious yet entirely different backgrounds with different outcomes and goals in mind.

But as one knows, politics can sometimes get a little... messy. So will these candidates handle this election with poise or turn their will to knives?

Restrictions

Any and all NPC's of le Conseil d'Or, even if roleplayed, may not be killed. Permanent changes to their well-being must be asked for. Candidates must have a background based within Erudian or Allvillian civilizations. It is strongly recommended you read the booklet.

Given the restrictions of les Trois Royaumes, open display of Sylvance is outlawed. Your character can not use their Sylvance willy-nilly, as they are given the danger of being disqualified from the election and even arrested or executed.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: May I make a Contingency?

A: You may make a Contingency, but must fill out the Contingency Application. It must be approved for it to become canonical.

Q: May I take the place of a particular NPC with my own character.

A: You may, with approval.

Q: May I take control of a particular NPC?

A: You may, but will be given prerequisites that will have to be followed - usually with the name not being able to be changed if the NPC has already received and given interactions in any roleplays or Contingencies.
