How to Write a "Showing the Knowing" Reflection

This category is where you capture the process of learning and your thinking as you are learning about something or developing a new skill. You are TEACHING someone a skill or knowledge you have learned.

Examples of "Showing the Knowing" Posts:

➔   A video with you narrating your thinking (out loud) as you solve a math problem.

➔   A video where you are fixing a run on sentence in your writing and talking about how you are fixing it.

➔   A video where you are replacing weak words with powerful words in your writing and explaining how it improves the meaning and writer's voice.

➔   A video where you are explaining how a scientific concept connects to something in real life.

➔   A video capture of something you did in integrated studies where you are explaining the process and results.

STEP ONE: Plan the Teaching

I will teach: (what skill will you teach, or question will you solve?)

The materials I need to to this are:

Plan:

What I will say:	What I will do:

What Core Competency did you use in this learning / skill?? _____

Step Two: Putting it all together in a reflection post on your portfolio.

➔   Now organize the materials you require and want to videotape in your capture.
➔   Practice explaining your thinking a few times and demonstrating your learning.
➔   When you have rehearsed a few times and feel confident, capture it on video.
➔   Post it on your site - did you connect it to the Core Competencies?
