UPLOADING GUIDELINES

If you want to upload anything to this study guide, please follow the guidelines. Some people found the AP Psych review a little too confusing, so we're gonna try to make this one more organized like the Euro review.

1. If you want to upload anything longer than a couple pages of text, please upload the content to a separate file, and then create a sharable link. A tutorial describing how to share google docs can be found here.
2. There are 9 sections in this review. The first seven sections are for each of the seven units covered throughout the entire year. The 8th section is for general study subjects that span all units and/or aren't particular to a single unit. The 9th section is for anything relating to the AP itself, such as test tips, essay help, released exams, etc. Please upload your content to its respective section! We want to keep this organized!
3. Please add your content to the table of contents above
4. Please don't edit or delete what others have contributed! Small grammar and spell checks are okay, but please don't delete whole paragraphs or links. If something seems incorrect, leave a comment or suggestion instead!

THE AP EXAM

SECTION	TYPE	# OF QUESTIONS	TIME	% OF SCORE
1	Multiple choice	75	60 minutes	50% (~0.67% per question)
2	FRQ's	3	75 minutes	50% (~16.67% per question)

The AP Exam is split into two sections, the multiple choice and the free response questions (FRQ's). Each portion is worth 50% of the overall grade, so you need to make sure you are competent with both testing methods.

The multiple choice requires students to go through 75 questions in an hour. Although this might sound difficult, it is definitely doable. Unlike AP Euro, there are no sources, articles, or paintings to interpret to answer the questions. Although some questions do involve a map or chart, most questions on the AP HUG exam are knowledge based. This allows you to complete questions much quicker than you would on the Euro exam.

The FRQs are 3 essays that you have to write in 75 minutes. These essays should address the points in the prompt. They are usually slightly longer than a SEQ in euro, and do not need to be anywhere close to a LEQ. Although it is only a suggestion, you should spend about 25 minutes on each essay; however, no one is stopping you from working on a particular FRQ longer than 25 minutes, and vice versa. Make sure to manage your time, and don't get caught up in one FRQ. Look at all three prompts, and decide which one to attack first.
