

Dear community members,

Imagine a bleak world without libraries, every book is read on some kind of screen. Horrible right? Well, this figment of the imagination from your mind may become reality very soon if we don't save our libraries. They help us gain knowledge, have a peaceful place to unwind and teach us useful things in their courses. In this text, we will go through why we should save our local library

Our library isn't just a place to read but it's a wonderland full of imagination and knowledge. You can gain important knowledge to help you right in our library. Now I know what you are thinking "Why don't we just google it?" Well research has proven that books are better to gain knowledge from because they let you think for yourself.

If all books were on screens and the library reduced to bits of rubble, we would have to be exposed to all the noise from the street and we wouldn't be able to focus. Libraries let you have a calm and quiet place to unwind and read your book. Studies show that people who read e books are significantly more stressed than people who read in our library.

If libraries are gone, we wouldn't be able to take part in the engaging courses that the library provides on all the topics. Did you know that 98% of the people who take the courses find it useful and apply it to daily life. That's 49 people out of the 50 people who take the course!

In conclusion, libraries are vital to our community because of the courses, knowledge and calmness hidden within them. We should preserve them for the future generations to gain knowledge and enjoy them. We must take action now and save our local library right away.

From: Chatswood Library