

Introduction To The Doc

Eos; Dandys World OC

They were made to be an “other”, someone that kids look at so they don’t grow up learning that anyone “other” is weird. When first introduced the episode follows a female toon gaining feelings for them and by the end of the episode she confesses, but that’s when Eos tells her that he doesn’t really have an interest in any of it, the episode ends with someone saying how everyone is different and experiences feelings in their own way. They show up on occasion in episodes either playing pranks during filler or to again teach kids to embrace whatever “otherness” they have and to not be rude to people just because they’re different. Eos is a very middle toon being both adored and hated, parents feeling scared about their children knowing about those topics tend to avoid any episodes with them, but lots of parents feel glad that their children are being taught to not feel like they have to follow the norm. Most of their fans are pre-teens or teens who still watch the show because of younger siblings or parents not letting them watch anything else, Eos has helped them to become themselves and step out of their comfort zone.

Eos sometimes just goes blank, no pranks, no tricks, no watching toons hobbies, just blank. Obviously on their home planet everything is different, way less...everything, so sometimes it gets all too much and they have to sit out from activities for the day and usually their handler sticks with them, helping wherever they can. Most times it just takes time and patience though. Over time he lets some toons in when overstimulated, but mostly likes to be alone without any noises or just resting with Aros in bed.

~”°•.~”°• Random Things About Them

- An adult like the others but has a teenager like mindset, due to when they first debuted
- He/They
- Prankster
- Aroace
- Very silly
- Uses his goggles to scare people
- Alien, shown as a special edition character on the show. Showing up every now and then (think the other region pups in Paw Patrol)
- Not as beloved or well known as mains but has a small group of fans
- Only out and about at Garden view every couple months, sharing Astros room and getting a little section for themselves
- Kids like to get picked up by them and floated up with his shoes
- He’s friends with mostly all the cast, although some aren’t that fond of his tricks

- When they're not joking around they tend to enjoy listening to the other toons talk or playing with Aros, his robot dog
- He has a plush of each toon, even the limited edition ones!! Keeping them all safely on a shelf
- Close friends with Goob and Finn, enjoying hugs from Goob. Them and Finn are a chaos duo together, puns and pranks
- Sees Teagan as a motherly figure due to his younger nature
- Sometimes will forget to turn off their shoes before falling asleep or napping and will end up sleeping floating
- Them and Astro have a familial bond!! Sharing a love for space
- Has glow in the dark stars in his room as well as a replica of the solar system (token of their handler)
- Likes watching others do their hobbies or daily tasks whenever bored
- They especially like watching Cosmo and Sprout bake, sometimes helping by bringing ingredients over!!
- Sometimes him and Boxten trade bandanas to see when the others would notice
- Is attempting to learn how to knit and crochet to make replicas of each toons trinket with their plush
- Made Aros himself! As an alien they are very knowledgeable and have accelerated tech
- Sometimes helps repair Vee when she malfunctions or has an accident, making slight upgrades as well
- Him and Dandy are pretty close, having weekly doggy playdates between Aros and Pebble (Coal as well during Christmas time)

A demon who escaped hell by quite literally fighting Lucifer himself. Roams the mortal realm in hiding, not that good of hiding but hiding nonetheless! Was in a different dimension when Blue & Dusk summoned him with a burnt cake?(wha-?) He just follows the bullshit they do/cause causing extra chaos on the way(he's still a demon).

~”°.~”°. Past °.~”°.~”°

Was a part of the guard training, being taught by one of the generals. The training was tough, and unruly which is how he got most of his scars. He was top of the class and got into further teachings for guard training, becoming Lucifer's bodyguard. (In this hell Satan is head dude and Lucifer is his son or smth idk) Bro is getting like hella mistreated though despite his status so he gets pissed, yells at Satan, and proposes a challenge so he can leave. A duel between him and Lucifer, if he wins he gets to go to the mortal realm, if he loses he has to face severe punishment and will be frowned upon by all for his crimes. As we know he wins lol. So now he's just in the mortal realm straight vibing.... Until he gets summoned to a whole ass other dimension through a burnt cake and some gibberish that just so happened to be the incantation used to summon him.
