Hey Gs, this is a caption building rapport with my client's followers.

She used to hard sell in every post so I'm trying to fix the balance.

Review it like a G., If you don't like something about it, please explain the reason and give a suggestion on how you would change it, so it will be valuable to review it for you and me.

The smoothest way to achieve glowing skin in the cold upcoming winter. ❄️

You might think that you need new and expensive products in order to look at yourself in the mirror in the dry winter and see the glow of a star. 🌟

But, that's not the case...

All you need are minor changes based on the basics in your skincare routine.

Changes that will transform your dry and flaky skin into hydrated and soothing that everyone compliments all winter along. 🧴

Such changes are...

Moisturizing your skin as soon as you get out of the shower or bath that makes your skin plump and smooth like a little baby's. 🍼

Using a lip balm with SPF to prevent cuts from your lips and make them soft and radiant. ✨

Using a sleeping mask or an overnight cream to rejuvenate your dry skin. 🛌

So now tell me below, what changes do you make to your skincare routine in the winter?
