

5.6A Matter Vocab
Vocab Quiz on Friday, Aug 22

electrical energy: energy caused by the movement of electrical charges.

conductor: a material that transfers energy easily.

insulator: a material that reduces or prevents the transfer of energy.

density: the amount of matter in an object compared to the space it takes up.

solubility: How much of a substance will dissolve in a given amount of a different substance.

volume: The amount of space an object takes up.

dissolve: to completely mix two substances

physical state: a form of matter such as a solid, liquid, or gas

mass: the amount of matter in an object

5.6A Matter Vocab
Vocab Quiz on Friday, Aug 22

electrical energy: energy caused by the movement of electrical charges.

conductor: a material that transfers energy easily.

insulator: a material that reduces or prevents the transfer of energy.

density: the amount of matter in an object compared to the space it takes up.

solubility: How much of a substance will dissolve in a given amount of a different substance.

volume: The amount of space an object takes up.

dissolve: to completely mix two substances

physical state: a form of matter such as a solid, liquid, or gas

mass: the amount of matter in an object