

(NONE OF THIS IS CANNON AT ALL)

Let's set the scene. you're forty five year old, still a LONG way from retirement. It's another day, another job and you're heading to Iceland for work. It's your standard run of the mill Dragon monster hunting job. Which sounds odd when you try to explain it to your parents, but pays well.

What set this job aside from the others, was the fact that this job was in a small village, and one local teen just kept hanging off Evangeline, and they couldn't figure out why. But they were a precocious kid so Evangeline humoured them, and gave her some spare books on monsters to teach her, but nonetheless this kid, Svana wouldn't leave them alone, the more evangeline worked in the area, dealing with the dragon, the more they learned about this tagalong child the more she endeared herself to Evangeline.

This random kid just figuratively and literally clung onto evangeline. As the weeks into this hunt dragged on Svana, the kid kept chatting to and hanging around Evangeline, and somehow, Evangeline found themselves being talked into adopting this enthusiastic child who had a real shine to the technicalities of monster biology. So Evangeline came home with the horns of a dragon and an adopted daughter.

This however was only the beginning. Evangeline went home and started to look after this 13 year old kid and nurture her interest in monster biology, but before Evangeline knew it there were two more kids, and then that went up to 3. Before the non binary monster hunter had picked up something like 6 or 7 kids, and they had this strange messy queer family.

Evangeline made sure they were always looked after and supervised at home, despite the fact Evangeline was so often abroad for work. There was Tetra, the wildchild shapeshifter, who evangeline sometimes had trouble keeping a leash on, there was Katrina, the second brainiac child who was great with machines, There was Luma who evangeline kind of picked up while in a fairy hollow, who is a real dab hand with magic. And the most recent addition to the family was Zinnia, the most enthusiastic bright, starry eyed optimistic child who loved bees and insisted on getting a beehive for the backyard which she looks after.

Y'know how most kids want dogs or cats? Zinnia wanted an entire hive of bees, because why be normal when your parent is a non binary person who hunts monsters. When your sister Luma collects Stim toys your parent can't really stop you from being the very literal Queen Bee. Evangeline is pretty certain that one of these days they're going to wake up and there will be a giant beehive in the backyard where Zinnia is the queen bee.

Overall they did pretty well as a weird family who kind of found each other both figuratively and literally.

As the years went on and they started going to college something more unusual started happening in a few different places around the globe. Some new folks started to pop up in the monster hunting scene. They weren't linked to monster hunting guilds like people like Evangeline, instead more loose cannon types. They were calling themselves servitors, claiming to be working with a moon goddess called Selene.

Now It was kind of a given to most people, they were well aware of Selene and Solaria but It was still a new thing. They got used to that after a few years and continued on with their family life, and Evangeline sent the 3 eldest off to college. Katrina, Luma & Tetra all headed off to college in Amsterdam but Svana started working with Evan in monster hunting. It ended up probably being better for Svana in the long run as after the first group of servitors disappeared Tetra, Katrina and Luma got scooped up as the next servitors by Selene. So that was an interesting thanksgiving with monster hunter mom/dad. It was just the three of them at first, but after they had done their 5 years of servitordom and moved on with their lives, there were a few more groups and then IT HAPPENED AGAIN.

Zinnia had moved out, gone to college for agricultural science and started a bee farm for herself, and it still happened again. Zinnia was going steady with a lovely girl called Charlie, they collected cool rocks together, but two of these cool rocks were not as they seemed. These cool rocks turned out to be items used to choose servitors.

So these two lovebirds had to start defending their home together from monsters. So now almost all of evangeline's stupid gay kids had been these fancy new age "superhero" job and only one of them actually followed in their footsteps. Nonetheless, Evangeline was proud of all their children. "They are all incredible in their own way" they'd tell most guests and brag to their colleagues.