

Savanna Woods

Full bio:

Savanna Woods is a full-time singer-songwriter and performer from Stanwood, Washington, celebrated for her unique, powerful voice—emotional, raspy, and masterfully controlled. She performs for audiences across the Pacific Northwest and all around the globe. Among her many achievements, she was a standout on Season 20 of The Voice, earning a spot in the Top 20 on Team Kelly.

Savanna is a dynamic artist known for her versatility and passion for music. In 2024, she explored a wide range of styles, collaborating with various artists and enthraling audiences during her tours across the UK and the US. Currently, Savanna is self-producing her upcoming album from her cozy tiny home studio, set to be released in 2025.

With her innovative spirit and dedication, Savanna continues to expand her career, push creative boundaries, and connect with fans around the globe with her energetic performances and heartfelt songwriting.

Shorter Bio:

Savanna Woods is a singer-songwriter from Stanwood, Washington, known for her powerful, raspy vocals and electrifying stage presence. As well as being a Top 20 finalist on Season 20 of The Voice, Savanna has built a full-time music career touring throughout the Pacific Northwest, the UK, and the US. In 2024, she embraced new creative directions and collaborations, captivating audiences with her genre-blending sound. Currently self-producing her next album from her cozy tiny home studio, Savanna is set to release the project in Summer 2025. With an ambitious spirit and deeply emotional songwriting, she continues to forge meaningful connections with fans around the world.

=