

Vermont Technical Job Resources

- Craigslist Jobs categories Internet Engineering, Software/QA/DBA/Etc, Web/HTML Info Design, less useful is “Gigs” section under Computer
- Seven Days has an IT jobs category
http://classifieds.sevendaysvt.com/listAds.htm?listAction=searchedAds&FORMITEM_TEX=&FORMITEM_CATEGORY=28&FORMITEM_PROPERTY_7_20=&FORMITEM_PROPERTY_8_21=&FORMITEM_PROPERTY_9_22=&x=21&y=10
- Indeed.com is a jobs-conglomerate and does a very good job. Search for the technology you know, etc HTML, CSS in Vermont <http://www.indeed.com/jobs?q=HTML+CSS&l=vermont> Once you find a relevant search you can set up an email alert to keep getting any new jobs added to this category.
- www.careerbuilder.com (this is what the Burlington Free Press uses)
- www.uvmjobs.com UVM is not known for paying well but they have excellent benefits including free classes/tuition and a 37 hour work week.
- The State of Vermont can be a good place to get in the door
<http://www.vermont.gov/portal/employment/>

Vermont Technical Community Resources

- This meetup group has most of the events: <http://www.meetup.com/VTCode/>
- Although for some reason it does not have the Word Press group:
<http://www.meetup.com/Burlington-WordPress-Meetup/>
- Nor Code for BTV, which is a group in Burlington that does volunteer projects for Vermont non-profit and government organizations, and are always looking for help
<http://www.meetup.com/CodeForBTV/>
- Nor the newer more “hardware/maker” events such as at the Generator
<http://generatorvermont.com/>
- And Laboratory B <http://www.laboratoryb.org/>

Online Technical News and Information

- Hacker News: <http://www.hackernews.com>
- Reddit has a lot of “subreddits” on all kinds of different technologies, or a useful one is cscareerquestions: <http://www.reddit.com/r/cscareerquestions/>

Other

*It can never hurt to look up a company you are interested in on <http://www.glassdoor.com>, but take the reviews with a grain of salt

* A good book on negotiation is Getting to Yes: How To Negotiate Agreement Without Giving In Audio CD – Audiobook, Unabridged
by Roger Fisher

