SUBJECT LINE: It was impossible to unfocus after discovering this ancient super power

What would you sacrifice to have focus so precise that nothing could distract you?

I was deep in another brainstorming session trying to come up with a 'Golden Ticket' idea for a marketing campaign about a new supplement that was meant for focus and productivity.

Due the next morning - The pressure was mounting

I had a few good ideas but nothing that hadn't been done before.

I had been at it all day, hour after hour, but by this point I was feeling tired and losing focus.

I needed a pick-me-up to get me back on track. Coffee and energy drinks would just leave me jittery and worse off, so they were no good.

A thought shot into my mind..."Why not just try the new supplement yourself?". When was a better time to try it?

I opened a bottle I had been given and took a dose. About 30 minutes later a switch was flicked.

I was unstoppable. Every idea had the potential to be that 'Golden Ticket'

"This ancient secret will trick your brain into precision focus that will crush your opposition - the millionaires are obsessed with it"

The marketing campaign launched on time and was a HUGE success. You would have no idea where my life has led me to now.

It turns out you don't need to sacrifice anything.
