

100 word statement for tips using LinkedIn

To make your LinkedIn profile stand out, use relevant keywords, clearly state the role you are seeking, and mention your availability to work. Set regular job notifications based on your preferred role and choose a suitable frequency to stay motivated and informed about new opportunities. Regularly update your profile with qualifications, achievements, work experience, volunteering activities, and skills. Sharing your accomplishments demonstrates your abilities and interests to potential employers. It is also useful to collect testimonials from colleagues, employers, or organizations you have worked with. Adding verified certifications and qualifications further strengthens your profile and increases your credibility with recruiters and employers.
