Clarifications

I have no rules when it comes to calling people using foul language. I believe freedom of speech is important to moderating a game. If someone is making attacks on you, they are just ruining their character. However, very rarely will I intervene. I will only intervene where the feud and obscenities become so excessive that it derails a game. You will not be modkilled for this, but a hard warning will be in place. I have a high tolerance for those feuds and have no problems with them, but don't be excessive to the point of ruining the game.
