

Hey <xyz>

After looking for online training sessions, your website caught my attention. I have the perfect scheme to help you achieve the best goals at an organization with plenty of attentive customers.

U help people who want to improve themselves, and you assist them by selling them affordable and effective programs, I like it!

Btw, I saw your post on Instagram with the Ernest Hemingway quote, is very motivational!

While going through your site I noticed that some things could be added to reach more clients. This brings me to my next point, after spending some time looking into your website to find the best solutions, I have a few ideas to help u.

We are living in a digital age, this consists of things like social media advertising, newsletters, and enhanced advertisement quotes. Are very useful, that inspire subscribers to take action. There is one of my ideas, is to add a newsletter to your page!

Here Its an example of what newsletters should be like I've attached this as a gift for you. Feel free to use it! If u want :)

And if it proves useful then we should get a conversation and brainstorm some other ways to be the best online training site :)

if not let me know and I'll take you off my follow-up list looking forward to your reply!
