

"Twelfth Night is a 'period of holiday abandon in which the normal rules and order of life were suspended or else deliberately inverted, in which serious issues and events mingled perplexingly with revelry and apparent madness.' It was a time for pranks and disguises, playful games and folly. Twelfth Night is the twelfth night after Christmas, the last night of the extended Christmas season, and '...thus it marks the boundary between games and disguisings and the business of the workaday world. (Shakespeare Let Free).

Twelfth Night Invitation

Your group is going to prepare a skit - see the opposite side - you only have 5 minutes to prepare (be quick) - be as creative as possible, improvise lines, make sure you

Do not directly tell us the situation -we will

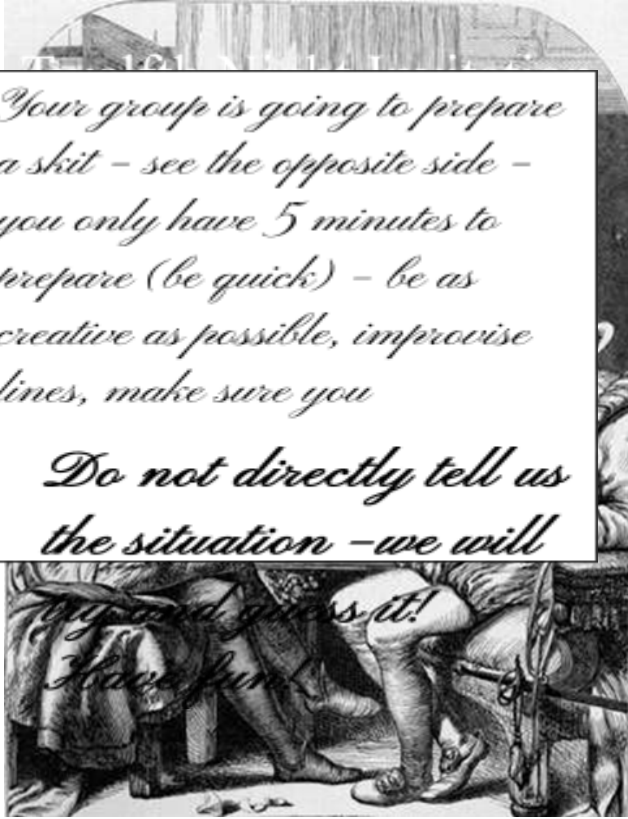

Your group is going to prepare a skit - see the opposite side - you only have 5 minutes to prepare (be quick) - be as creative as possible, improvise lines, make sure you

Do not directly tell us the situation -we will

*try and guess it!
Have fun!*

"Twelfth Night is a "period of holiday abandon in which the normal rules and order of life were suspended or else deliberately inverted, in which serious issues and events mingled perplexingly with revelry and apparent madness." It was a time for pranks and disguises, playful games and folly. Twelfth Night is the twelfth night after Christmas, the last night of the extended Christmas season, and "...thus it marks the boundary between games and disguisings and the business of the workaday world. (Shakespeare Set Free).

Your group is going to prepare a skit - see the opposite side - you only have 5 minutes to prepare (be quick) - be as creative as possible, improvise lines, make sure you

Do not directly tell us the situation - we will

*try and guess it!
Have fun!*

A. You and your group are to prepare a short skit wherein -

Divide your group into two equal parts - $\frac{1}{2}$ of you are dogs - the other $\frac{1}{2}$ are cats. An invisible wizard casts a spell on you - those that were cats are now dogs; those that were dogs are now cats - react to your own transformation and to those around you.

Your group is going to prepare a skit - see the opposite side - you only have 5 minutes to prepare (be quick) - be as creative as possible, improvise lines, make sure you

Do not directly tell us the situation - we will

*try and guess it!
Have fun!*

B. You and your group are to prepare a short skit wherein -

Everyone in the room (your group) looks exactly alike.

"Twelfth Night is a 'period of holiday abandon in which the normal rules and order of life were suspended or else deliberately inverted, in which serious issues and events mingled perplexingly with revelry and apparent madness.' It was a time for pranks and disguises, playful games and folly. Twelfth Night is the twelfth night after Christmas, the last night of the extended Christmas season, and '...thus it marks the boundary between games and disguisings and the business of the workaday world. (Shakespeare Set Free).

Your group is going to prepare a skit - see the opposite side - you only have 5 minutes to prepare (be quick) - be as creative as possible, improvise lines, make sure you

Do not directly tell us the situation -we will

Your group is going to prepare a skit - see the opposite side - you only have 5 minutes to prepare (be quick) - be as creative as possible, improvise lines, make sure you

Do not directly tell us the situation -we will

*try and guess it!
Have fun!*