

Pacific East District Project READ Course Offerings

The Pacific East District, in partnership with the University of San Diego, has developed Project READ courses to help educators learn more about aspects of the district strategic plan. Project READ is designed for busy educators who wish to remain on the "cutting edge" in their chosen disciplines. Project READ courses are being offered for each of the seven critical initiatives and for the strategic themes of student-led discourse and digital learning. Educators can take up to three, single credit hour Project READ courses per certification cycle. Please check with DoDEA's certification office to ensure your eligibility with using these courses for certification.
