

THE TOWER OF HERCULES

The Tower of Hercules is a tower and lighthouse situated in La Coruña, it's the symbol of the city. It was built by the Romans in the second century. The tower is very tall, the second tallest lighthouse in Spain; its total height is 55 m . You have to climb over 242 steps to move to the top of the lighthouse, from there a wonderful view. The tower is the only Roman lighthouse and the oldest in use today. Every night the lighthouse works and facilitates navigation.

In June 27,2009 it was declared World Heritage.

Now there are four simple routes you can go with your family and enjoy its beautiful environment and nice landscape.
