

CHAPS Phase 6: Develop a Plan Evidence-Based Public Health Programs and Strategies Websites

Source	Organization	Website URL	Description
Public Health Digital Library	NIH Library of Medicine	https://nphco.tdnetdiscover.com/	The Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment now makes available free access to the Public Health Digital Library (PHDL) to help local public health agency staff find and use the best evidence-based information available. Learn more about the library and how to use it by visiting the PHDL page on OPHP's website.
County Health Rankings & Roadmaps: What Works for Health	Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and the University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute	http://www.countyhealthrankings.org/roadmaps/what-works-for-health	Provides information to help select and implement evidence-based informed policies, programs, and system changes. For each strategy, there is information regarding expected beneficial outcomes, evidence of effectiveness, impact on disparities, implementation examples, and implementation resources.
Healthy People 2030: Evidence-Based Resources	U.S. Department of Health and Human Services	https://health.gov/healthy-people/tools-action/browse-evidence-based-resources	Healthy People 2030 is a set of goals and objectives with 10-year targets designed to guide national health promotion and disease prevention efforts. The Evidence-Based Resources page includes published reviews of studies and interventions to improve health organized by health topic.
NACCHO Model Practices	National Association of County & City Health Officials (NACCHO)	http://www.naccho.org/topics/modelpractices/database/index.cfm	Online, searchable collection of innovative model practices (programs, resources and tools) developed by local public health agencies and community partners. Covers community health, environmental health, public health infrastructure & systems, and public health preparedness. LPHAs can submit new model practices for review each year.
The Community Tool Box	Work Group for Community Health and Development, University of Kansas	http://ctb.ku.edu/en/promisingapproach/Databases_Best_Practices.aspx	Links to comprehensive web-based resources for promising approaches to promote community health and development.

 COLORADO Office of Public Health Practice, Planning, & Local Partnerships <small>Department of Public Health & Environment</small>		Website URL	Description
NACCHO's Health Equity and Social Justice Toolkit	NACCHO	https://www.naccho.org/programs/public-health-infrastructure/health-equity	Toolkit intended to help local health departments address the root causes of inequities in the distribution of disease, illness, and death. It covers subjects ranging from social justice theory to public health practice, and includes journal articles, video clips, reports, PowerPoint presentations, book references, action guides, Web sites, and more. Click on the "Resources" tab to access the Toolkit.
CDC: The Community Guide	Centers for Disease Control and Prevention	https://www.thecommunityguide.org/	Extensive clearinghouse of evidence-based interventions and strategies based on level of evidence and degree of impact.