

Privacy Policy

Last Modified: 20-04-2018

MOBI Master is thankful to you for taking a moment to read our privacy policies. Please let us know if you have any questions or queries about our privacy policies.

Personal Information:

Personal information is a type of data which belongs to some individual entity or a person.

We DO NOT collect and store any kind of your personal information while you visit or download our product. The only information that we might store could be your valuable feedback that you may provide us in order to improve the performance or quality of our products.

Non-Personal Information:

Non personal information is a type of information that does not directly associates to some individual entity or a person.

We may collect and use your non-personal information in order to access the user behaviour, solve issues and problems in our products to build and develop much more better user experience in our products.

It may include the following information:

- Android Device ID
- IMEI Number
- Phone Manufacturer
- Phone Model
- RAM Size
- Location

Contact us:

If you have any questions or queries about our privacy policies, please feel free to contact us teamaskapps@gmail.com.

Note: Please make sure that we may update our privacy policies from time to time.